EDITORIAL BRIEFS.

MR. CARL SCHURZ did not come home to vote for Cleveland.

IT IS said that John L Sullivan has joined the Prohibitionists.

THE English papers are terribly insensed over the political result.

IT IS altogether possible that the official count may yet make Connecticut Republican.

COLONEL BRICE is probably satisfied now that railroading is more profitable than rainbow chasing.

SACKVILLE WEST called on President Cleveland yesterday and offered him congratulations on his election.

AND now the muchly-bled Democratic office-holder is a firmer believer than ever in civil-service reform.

STEVE BRODIE leaped 212 feet from the Poughkeepsie bridge. He was scared, but, unfortunately, he is still living.

HURRAH for Love and all the others who labored so earnestly to achieve a Republican victory in this county!

THAT Whitechapel murderer numbers one more victim. Several are yet to follow before the complete number,—15—is reached.

THE New York Herald now reads Grover Cleveland a lecture which it should have read before the election. It is now too late.

CHAIRMAN BROWN deserves credit for the business-like methods he infused into the campaign. The result shows that the ticket was well supported.

A SHARON manufacturer has notified his men of an advance of 10 per cent. on account of the success of protection. This is an instance of how the tariff affects wages.

WE always thought West Virginia was a fine young State, and now that it has gone Republican we know it. Carry the news to Mills and Carlisle and Jeff Davis. The Solid South has been broken.

ONE thing is plain and the people expect it of the Republican party and that is it must take up the Tariff question, settle it, and dismiss it from our politics. Before 1892 it ought to be, and we think will be, a dead issue.

PENNSYLVANIA still remains the State of most decided political opinions. Pennsylvania has tried the Republican party for years, is perfectly pleased with it and has sense enough to stay with a good thing when it has it.

WHEN the HON. Joseph Chamberlain, M. P., came to America to negotiate the fisheries treaty he also chose an American wife. He will marry Miss Endicott, the daughter of one of President Cleveland's cabinet ministers.

THE great moving day of the country next spring will be March 4 This is a little earlier than usual, but the moving is of unusual size; in fact, most of the Democratic party holding office with the Government will participate.

MAJ. MCKINLEY is re-elected to Congress with an increased majority of 1,400 over that of two years ago. In every possible way in this election the people of the country have demonstrated their preference for protection to home industries.

IN the Tippecanoe campaign of 1840 the popular vote was 2,402,511. This year it will be 9,000,000, an increase of six and a half million in 48 years. If the present increase keeps up for the next hundred years, the people of the country will have to take more than one day to do their voting in.

MARRIAGE is a failure in some instances because the parties thereto are failures. But in spite of the increase in the business of divorce courts, the majority of American homes are centres of happiness and of an influence for good which will prove the moral salvation of the country.

WE notice that Republican papers are announcing "ratification" meetings over the result of the election. The term "ratification" seems to us wrong used in this connection. It is all right to ratify or endorse a nomination, but when it comes to rejoice over an election jubilee meeting would be a more appropriate designation.

WE SHOULD HAVE DONE BETTER.

We certainly congratulate every Republican on the result of the recent election. Its importance for good can scarcely be estimated. It rescues the country from the rule of a party which is controlled by the enemies of business prosperity.

We expected a larger majority than was received.

With the issue before the people, the protest against free trade should have been larger and more emphatic. New York should have given 100,000 majority and this State 150,000. Every other northern state should have spoken by largely increased majorities.

The issue meant the dominancy of the of the South and the destruction of the business interests of the North, against which the Republican party was arrayed. The masses of the Democratic party did not realize this, but this was its meaning. Consequently, we expected a tidal wave in our favor.

It is strange even now to hear Democrats who confess that they voted against what they knew to be their business interests and the business interests of the country. We heard, on Thursday, a Democrat very high in authority in the counsels of his party and who took a leading part in the canvass, confess that he did not believe in the doctrines laid down in Cleveland's so-called message. And yet this gentlemen, who is considered to have as much patriotism and judgement as anyone else, voted for Cleveland. He refrained from even expressing his real opinion in the fear that it might result to the detriment of his party. We confess we admire such party spirit, but believe the need is for men who will think less of party and more of the good of country.

Our faith in the position taken by the Republicans is absolute and it would have continued the same had the party been defeated. A kind Providence interfered and the correct policy has triumphed.

Now we want to define that policy. So far as the tariff is concerned, it is not one of reduction but of reform. We care nothing for reduction. We do not believe a full treasury means that the people are oppressed, but rather that they are prosperous Let us reform the tariff in the interest of business, let the surplus be great or small. If the surplus is large we must expend it wisely—not deposit it in pet banks.

SECURITY FOR THE FUTURITY.

The admission of those Territories which the Democrats have sternly refused to allow to come into the Union, although they possessed all the qualifications, will be among the first acts of a Republican Congress. Under the fostering care of a Republican administration there will be three, if not four, new Republican States added to the Union, with no certainty that any one of the other Territories which will be admitted in the course of time will not also be Republican.

These in themselves will be abundant security for the future. But there are Southern States that will break loose to become Republican. The South will not be slow to perceive that the potency of a Solid South is gone forever. The disadvantages of being "solid" against the Government will soon enough be perceived. Inhering forces of such a position will shatter the Solid South, even if nothing else is done to do it.

But among the things in the future resulting from the restoration of the Government to Republican control, will be honest elections in the South. Fraud and intimidation must cease. The colored voters must be protected, let them vote as they will. The enormous inconsistency of enfranchising the negro and then depriving him of his vote must cease altogether. Either that or the colored population must cease to be included in the basis of representation in Congress. If the South prefers to see her representation in Congress cut down to dealing honestly with the negro, let it be tried. One or the other must happen.

The situation favors most decidedly a long rest for the Democrats in the minority. The security for the future is abundant. The "pivotal" States will drop from the lists, and many things disagreeable in the election contests will cease.

THE latest returns show that the Republicans will have a majority of twenty three in the House, as well as the President and Senate. Such full swing in the government they have not had for years, and consequently much better governing than for years may be expected.

ONE OF THE FIRST THINGS TO DO.

We have said before that whichever party triumphed at the polls, there was one item of legislature they must atend to at once. We refer to the suppresion of the evils of foreign immigration. It is the evil of the day and has done more injury to American workmen than any other one cause.

What shall be done?

It is easy to mark out a course of action, though not so easy to follow it. The proper course is to prescribe conditions upon which foreigners would be permitted to enter our shores. The wholesale importation of laborers should be entirely prohibited. We believe there is already a law on the subject. If not, let the passage of such be the first act of legislation. If there is such a law enforce it rigidly.

We do not believe, of course, in entirely excluding foreigners from our shores. No, this land must continue to be the home of good people who come here from any part of the world. But, in view of recent experiences, we have the right to establish certain conditions. Let these be the conditions; First, the immigrate must have either $500 in money or be the master of a useful trade —the latter preferred. Second, He must come with the idea of becoming a citizen, not with the intention of remaining only until he has obtained a certain sum of money. Third, He should be provided with a certificate of good character. He must be willing to obey all our laws. He must revere the American Sabbath. He must be free from Communistic or Anarchistic ideas.

We most earnestly warn the gentlemen who compose the 51st congress to have bills prepared at once for presentation to that body. The people are in earnest and will brook no delay. Show that you are truly the laborer's friend. We are sure that such legislation will be approved by the President.

New York Governor Election.

Hill's re-election Governor of New York was owing to peculiar reasons In the first place his official acts on the license question attached to him 35,000 saloon keepers scattered throughout the State, whose contributions in money amounted to a very large sum. It was a very potent and active organization. Hill received thousands of votes ordinarily cast for the Republican candidate, but the result shows that the Democrats as a body stuck to him, though many of them knifed Cleveland. The candidate that a New York Democrat will not stand must be a very bad man indeed. It is doubtless true, however, that there were Democrats, but not in large numbers, who voted for Miller, the Republican candidate. Of him it is to be said that it has been many a day since there has been such an exhibition of courage, ability and strength as his conduct in the canvass furnished. True, he was not elected, but he won a great deal else that will prove valuable when Hill is forgotten. The last has not been heard of Warner Miller.

WE have made up President Harrison's cabinet only so far as the Secretary of State and the Secretary of the Treasury are concerned. The former will be Senator Sherman and the latter Warner Miller of New York. The Postmaster General will likely come from Indiana and the Secretary of the Navy from California. The Secretary of War and the Interior portfolios may be divided between Maine and Michigan, but Attorney General Hastings might easily be elevated to the same position in National affairs.

GEN. HARRISON has been receiving delegations of visitors now for four months. Would it not now be well to give the President-elect a little rest? With the best intentions in the world, these congratulating crowds may do harm by taking up too much of the future President's time and strength. He has plenty of hard work to do between now and March. Give him a chance to do it.

THE report that ex-United States Senator Wm. H. Barnum, the Chairman of the Democratic National Committee, is on his death bed brings the Democratic campaign to a melancholy close. Mr. Barnum was an old man, but a hard and untiring worker, and his sickness is wholly traceable to his labor in the recent campaign.

MR. CLEVELAND has his private opinion of the political sagacity of the revenue reform statemen who persuaded him that it would be good policy to precipitate the tariff issue upon the country. In this instance a little education cost the president his re-election.

THE "WATCHMAN" AS A PROPHET.

It used to be that the Democratic Watchman, of this place, was a tolerably fair political prophet. At that time people supposed that its editor knew something about politics But some of the results of the recent election show that it was lamentably "off" in affairs pertaining to Centre county. Just now what it said will make humorous reading. We quote two political articles which appeared in the Watchman on the 26th of October as follows:

"ALREADY SOLID."

"Mr. James Kerr, our candidate for congress, has been making speeche in different parts of the county the past week. At Snow Shoe on Monday night; at Madisonburg on Tuesday; at Millheim on Wednesday night and last night at Spring Mills. At each place he had rousing audiences, and from every one who was present comes the same complimentary statement of the favorable impressions he left, and the good feeling that exists in the Democratic ranks. Before Mr. Kerr came to the county he was solid with our voters and had a certain majority of from twelve to fifteen hundred. His appearance among our people, his plain practical talks to them, and the excellent impression he has made wherever he has been, leaves little doubt that he will receive from 2,000 to 2,500 majority in Centre. To-night (Friday) he speaks in Centre Hall and we predict for him a rattling good meeting."

"IN A BAD STATE."

"Poor Doty; we pity him. We pity the party that nominated him also. Running for Congress don't seem to be the forte of the one, nor voting for him the pleasure of the other. If we have heard one Republican about Bellefonte say they would not vote for him we have heard forty. In fact, we haven't heard one who said he would, and a goodly number pretend to be so incensed at the idea of having him on their ticket as a candidate for Congress, that they will cast a Democratic ballot straight. It is a pity that such is the case. It knocks the fun out of the campaign and thunder out of Republican hopes. It leaves poor Rynder in worse condition than before this 'distinguished honor' was thrust upon him; it leaves the boys without anyone to bleed, and it leaves the entire Republican ticket in even worse condition than is the hopeful 'Doty.'"

In view of the very large vote polled throughout the district for Mr. Rynder, the Watchman must be sort of surprised. He ran splendidly and in this county, Kerr, with all his speeches, had only a diminutive plurality. If he had fifteen hundred before he came into the county to make speeches it follows that his speeches must have disgusted 1300 Democrats. If Kerr had remained here a week longer Rynder would have carried the county. Considering the late stage in the campaign when Mr. Rynder was nominated the result is creditable to him and decidedly disastrous to Mr. Kerr, who goes to Congress representing a strongly Democratic district by a majority of votes which is quite insignificant.

THE SOUTH WILL BREAK UP.

Few things are more certain than that in the near future of politics there will be a breaking away from the Democratic organization by important sections of the South. Even now in South Carolina, where it was perhaps least to be expected, there are active symptoms of this. There is an expressed fear by Democrats that the Republicans will lose no time in enforcing the election laws and that a day of reckoning is at hand. Said a leading South Carolina Democrat since the election:

"For 20 years or more the Northern Democrats have been using us to serve their selfish ends. The solid South has been used as a cat's paw by them, and the solid South is a solidified fool if it doesn't kick over the traces. What would I do? I would have a convention of the Southern States. Let that convention meet and discuss the situation. Let us say to the National Republican Committee: 'We are tired of this thing, and we want to break through the traces. Give us your assurance that you will leave us alone to manage our State affairs and that you will give us decent Federal officials in the South, and we will break up the solid South.'"

The Southern people have no longer the reasons they have had for clinging to the Democracy. The Whigs of the South have not all died out. They will be the first to be heard from in the new order of things that is to come in a number of States, and there will be signs that cannot be misunderstood sooner than is generally thought.

THE once big Don Dickinson will soon shrink into his normal size. He is very small, and very ignorant of the condition of the country. Blaine showed him up in one of his Michigan speeches.

MR. RYNDER'S WORK FOR PROTECTION.

A Free Trade Organ Pitches into Him

Hon. H. C. McCormick's Election Due to Rynder's Work.

Below is an extract from the Williamsport Record, a free trade paper, which amply vindicates the DAILY NEWS in all that it has said in favor of our work for protection which our late candidate for congress has done. The Record, however, commits an error. The protection plank was drawn by Mr. Rynder, as were all but three in the platform. This plank—the Protection Plank, undoubtedly upset the plans of the free traders in several districts of the state. And this is not all. In Februsry last Mr. Rynder attended the industrial Reform Convention in Washington and secured the adoption of a protection plank in the national platform of that party. In the Union Labor National Convention he prevented the adoption of anything that looked like a step toward the free trade ideas of Cleveland, although the forces which attempted to debauch the Labor vote of Indiana, Illinois and Michigan were there to do their fall work. But they were met and defeated at every turn by the cool head and unyielding nerve of Theodore P. Rynder. It is undoubtedly true, that Mr. Rynder has done more than any one man in the United States to prevent the Labor party being led into the slough of free trade. The DAILY NEWS knew all this, and is proud of the fact that it secured Mr. Rynder's endorsement by the Republican party of this district, and still more proud of the way in which Centre county Republicans stand by him.

The men to whom the Record refers are such men as Hon. Robert F. Huston, of Lancaster, Hon. L. W. Olds, of Erie, V. A. Lotier, of Montour, Hon. Wesley Chambers, of Venango. With these men to support him, Mr. Rynder has been able to baffle every attempt to place the labor party of Pennsylvania in a false position. Centre county has honored itself by honoring its citizen's.

Here are the extracts from the Record, the last one showing that the labor party of Lycoming did not stick to Mr. Steck when it was found that he stood by Cleveland and his free trade schemes:

The defeat of Mr. Steck in this district is to be attributed in a large degree to Mr. Brumm and his friends, who carried through the plank which gave a great advantage to Mr. McCormick in the late contest. Brumm is really no more a friend to the workingman than is McCormick, and yet he had the effrontery to push himself forward as the laboring man's friend and carried his pet plank through the convention in a speech for protection that was stronger than anything Mr. McCormick could have produced.

The results of the late election show as plainly as the light of day, that the labor people were sold out by this man Brumm and several others who attended that convention solely in Brumm's interests. There is no question about the truth of this assertion, and no one knows it better than the present state chairman T. P. Rynder, whose whole aim was directed towards securing the re-election of Brumm at the expense of every other candidate on the ticket, if necessary. It was through the machinations of Brumm, Rynder and a few others that enabled Mr. McCormick to charge Mr. Steck with attempting the impossible feat of "riding two horses going in diametrically opposite directions" and which did more towards defeating Mr. Steck than anything else.

As we close the forms we learn from the official returns, that Cleveland carried Lycoming county by 849 majority, and Steck by 149, a difference of just 700. It will easily be seen from the figures who it was that didn't "stick."

SOME of the Democratic organs are busily engaged in constructing a Cabinet for President-elect Harrison. But we opine he will be able to construct his own Cabinet, and we will wager a new hat that there will be no Lamars or Garlands in it—not even a Southern brigadier. Some of the organs feel sure that either Warner Miller or John C. New will be Secretary of the Treasury. Either one would fill the office creditably, but we believe that some other man will be taken.

"IN the public interest," exclaims the New York World, "Secretary Fairchild ought to purchase every bond that he can between now and next March." Yet it is not so many moons since the World was turning up its nose at General Harrison and Mr. Blaine for saying that the Secretary should buy bonds with the surplus instead of leaving it in the banks drawing no interest.

Our Story Teller

THE COUNT AND THE COUSIN.

Who is that beautiful girl to whom you bowed so familiarly?" said Charles Winstanley to Horace Grenville, as they proceeded down the steps of the City Hall.

"That was Adelaide Walsingham, your cousin and mine, Charles," said Horace; "really you must have left your memory among the beauties of Paris, if you cannot recognize your nearest of kin."

"You forget, Horace, that when I last saw Adelaide, she was a lively little hoyden, scarce ten years old; the lapse of seven years makes a wondrous difference in a lady, whatever it may do with a gentleman.

"Nay, if you begin to discuss time's changes, Charles, I must confess you cannot congratulate yourself upon having escaped a touch of his finger. Who, in that bronzed complexion and hirsute visage, could discover any traces of the smooth-cheeked boy whom I last saw on the deck of a French packet-ship some seven years ago?"

"When I was in Germany I learned to wear mustaches for the same reason that I learned to smoke the meerschaum--because everybody else did it. A lively little French lady, a passenger in our ship, wagered a pair of Pairs gloves that I would not wear them a week in America. I accepted the bet, and for one week you will see me "bearded like the pard." But pray, Horace, tell me something more about our pretty cousin."

"She is as lovely in character, Chas. as she is in person but she has only one fault; like the most of our fashionable belles, she has a mania for everything foreign. Her manners, her dress, her servants—all come from abroad, and she has declared to me repeatedly her resolution never to marry in American. She is a noble-hearted girl, and I wish she could be cured of her folly."

"If she is really a sensible girl, Horace and that is her only fault, I think she might be cured."

Horace shook his head.

"Come and dine with me, Horace; be careful to tell no one of my arrival, and we'll discuss the matter over a bottle of fine old Madeira, if you are not too fashionable to drink it."

* * * * * *

There was a great gathering of beauty and wealth at Mr. Walsingham's house, but fairest among them all was Adelaide. Attired in a robe of white crape, with no other ornament than a pearl bandeau confining her dark tresses, she looked the personification of joy.

"Cousin Horce, she exclaimed, as she saw her favorite cousin enter the room, "You have not been here these three days," and then, in a lower tone, she added: "Who was that splendid Don Whiskerando with whom I saw you walking yesterday?"

Horace laid his finger on his lips as a tall figure emerged from the crowd at the entrance of the room: "Miss Walsingham, allow me to present to you the most noble Count Pfeiffenhammer."

The blood mounted into Adelade's cheek as the Count bowed low over the hand which he hastened to secure for the next quadrille.

He was tall and exceedingly well shaped; his eyes were very bright; but the chief attraction was a beautiful mouth, garnished with the most splendid mustache that ever graced an American ball room. He danced elegantly, with a buoyancy of step and grace of motion perfectly unrivalled. Adelaide was enchanted. He spoke English very well; a slight German accent alone betrayed his foreign birth, and Adelaide did not like him the less for that.

The evening passed away like a dream, and Adelaide retired to her room with a burning cheek and a frame exhausted by what she deemed pleasure.

Every day saw the Count paying his devoirs to the lovely Adelaide, and always framing some very winning excuse for his visit. A bouquet of rare exotics, or an exquisite print, a scarce book, or a beautiful specimen of foreign mechanism, were sure to be his apology. Adelaide soon began to discover that when the Count was present time flew on eagle's wings; and when, after spending the morning in her company, he ventured to make one of the gay circle usually assembled in her drawing-room at evening, she was conscious of a degree of pleasure for which she was unwilling to account. But she was not so tranquil when her father began seriously to remonstrate against this imprudent intimacy.

"You have had all your whims gratified, Adelaide," said he. "Now you must indulge one of mine. Adopt as many foreign fashions as you please, but remember, that you never, with my consent marry any other than an American.

She was sitting alone one morning when the Count called. Seating himself beside her he began a light conversation, which suddenly changed to one of deeper interest. Seizing her hand, he poured forth the most passionate expressions of affection.

Half fainting with the excess of her emotions, Adelaide sat motionless as a statue, until aroused by the Count's entreaties for a reply. With bitter self-reproach, she attempted to answer him. Faltering, but frankly, she stated her father's objections to her union with a foreigner, and blamed herself for having permited an intimacy which could only end in suffering for both.

"Adelaide," said the Count, "you love me—those precious tears assure me that you love me. Be mine, sweet one; your father will not be inexorable—he adores you."

"And therefore" said she "you would have me make him wretched for life. Because he looks upon me with idolatry you would have me desecrate the image he has worshiped? Count Pfeiffenhammar, we must part! You do not understand my nature—I have been deceived in you!"

"You have—you have been deceived, my own sweet cousin!" cried the Count, as he covered her hand with passionate kisses. "You have rejected Count Pfeiffenhammar—will you also refuse the hand of your madcap cousin Charles Winstanley, whose little wife you were seven years ago?"

Adelaide started from her seat in wild surprise.

"What means all this? Charles Winstanley!—the Count!" The sudden revulsion of feeling overpowered her, and Cousin Horace entered the room just in time to see her sink fainting in Charles Winstanley's arms.

A few weeks after a splendid party was assembled in Mr. Walsingham's drawing-rooms; but Adelaide was no longer the life of the party. Attired in bridal array, and decked with the rich jewels which once sparkled on the person of the false Count, she sat in blushing beauty beside her cousin Chas, who, now that he had shaven off his mustache and reduced his whiskers, looked like what he was—a true American.

"But why, Chas. did you woo me in such outlandish guise?" whispered she, smiling.

"Because, sweet, you promised to marry none but an outlandish wooer. Plain Chas. Winstanley would never have been allowed the opportunity of winning the heart which Count Pfeiffenhammer so closely besieged."

"Ay, ay, Charles," said the happy father, "if American women would only value a man for the weight of his brains rather than the lightness of his heels—and the strength of his principles rather than the elegance of his manners—we would have less of foreign foppery and more of homely virtue in our country."

The coat worn by Charles XII., at the battle of Pultawa, and preserved by one of his officers and and attendants, was sold in 1825 for $2-500. A wig that had belonged to Sterne was sold at public auction in London for $1050. The prayer book used by Charles I., when on the scaffold was sold in London in 1825 for $525. A waistcoat belonging to J. J. Rousseau was sold for $100, and his metal watch for $100.—Notes and Queries.

HE FELL INTO A WHALE'S MOUTH.

"My narrowest escape from death," said Captain F. D. Haskell, a retired sea captain, "was when I fell like Jonah into the very mouth of the whale, which, however, did not swallow me, probably not thinking me a choice morsel. In my whaling days we didn't have the harpoon gun, but were obliged to row up close to the whale and harpoon him by a cast from the hand. This whale that I spoke of gave a sudden twist and threw me backward out of the boat. I tumbled squarely into his mouth which hung open 14 feet from jaw to jaw. He closed his mouth and crushed my legs rather gently for a whale, and let me go again, when I was picked up by one of the ship's boats We got the whale, though.

A Dish for a Dry Throat.

Mince the following rather finely: One pound of cold boiled cod, one-half pound of mild cheese, two ounces of stale bread, a teaspoonful of anchovey, three big mushrooms, one small onion, a clove of garlic and just a little parsley. Season with pepper and flour of mustard to taste. Rake the whole about for some little time with two salad forks; then put in a deep dish, one that will just hold it and press it down firmly. Add 'plenty' of butter on the top and a tablespoonful of Worcester sauce, and cook either before a clear fire or in a hot oven until the surface is delicately browned.

Licked out of His Boots.

"DANIEL, I'm licked"

"Yes, sire."

"Out of my boots, Daniel."

"Yes, sire But there is consolation, sire."

"Ph-ph-ph-what, D-D-Daniel," blubbered the President.

"The boots never fitted you, sire. They were much to large."

All the Others Dead.

In a lecture in New York in aid of the yellow fever sufferers the other night George Francis Train told the history of his life and the pathetic story of the deaths of his family by yellow fever. "When two years old," he said, "my parents moved to New Orleans. In 1833, when I was four years old, the great fever raged. This epidemic at Jacksonville seems ridiculous in comparison. Only 300 have died there, while 300 died every day at Memphis, and New Orleans was worse. I was only 4 years old, but I remember they had no coffins at New Orleans, no gravestones, no hearses, but every day a great cart came lumbering down the street and a horse cry would resound: "Awho-o-o! bring out your dead!'

"Then my little sister Lula died. They put her in a little pine box. Then my sister Ellen died— as frail a little flower as ever bloomed. That child's face has never left my memory, and when she was put in the box I waited wonderingly for the call, 'Bring out your dead!' The water splashed up into the wagon at the graveyard.

"Then my dear old mother followed, and then my nurse. My father then received a letter from my grandmother. "For God's sake send one of the family North before they are all dead. Can't you send George Francis to me and save a remnant of our race?" A tag was then fastened to me, marked: "John Clarke. Boston. Take good care of the little fellow. They are all dead but him." I was put on a steamer, and I floated down the Mississippi, up the Gulf Stream to Boston, and I seem to be floating still. Our family of eleven died in that epidemic."

Close Bargaining.

It is bargains that the country shopper comes to Boston to seek. One of these women went into a big dry goods house the other day to buy material for a gown. She selected, after a good deal of fussing, a gingham costing twelve cents a yard.

"How many yards are there in the piece?" she asked.

"There are eleven," he answered, after counting.

"I will take ten," she said.

He suggested that she take the whole piece, but she insisted that he should cut off ten yards, and this was accordingly done.

"That is a remnant, I suppose?" she said interrogatively, taking up the odd yard, as he folded the goods.

"Yes, ma'am."

"You sell remnants cheaper, don't you?"

"Sometimes," the clerk said laconically.

"What will you take for this?"

"Twelve cents."

"But that was just what I paid for the piece."

"I haven't any authority to mark goods down."

"Couldn't you send the cash boy to find the one who does mark them down, so as to see what he would take?" the customer asked anxiously.

"Just now," the clerk replied, with a wicked wink to a brother clerk, "he is at his dinner, and I don't think he'll be in to-day."

"And you couldn't mark it down yourself and tell him about it?"

"No," the clerk said, smiling aggravatingly. "I couldn't really:"

"Well" the woman said with a sigh, "then I'm dreadful sorry I had it cut, for I'll have to have that yard anyway, even if I do have to pay twelve cents for it. Ten yards wouldn't possibly do. But I ain't used to paying full price for remnants."—Providence Journal.

PRODUCTOF T HE DUBOIS FARM.

Mr. John E. DuBois' farm has yielded an immense amount of farm products this year, the same as it nas done every season. Mr. DuBois' farm is of no ordinary proportions, and there are few men in the State who carry on farming on so large a scale as he, He sowed forty acres of buckwheat, and harvested 2,090 bushels. Four thousand bushels of potatoes have been dug from thirty-five acres, and 3,000 head of cabbage have been raised. There yet remains a large amount of rye, oats, corn and grapes to be housed. Judging from the corn crop in former years there will be about 3,000 bushels (estimated) harvested this year, and grape vines which cover an acre of ground will be picked.

A Modern Instance.

"Madame, are you a woman suffragist?"

"No, sir; I haven't time to be."

"Haven't time? Well, if you had the privilege of voting, whom would you support?"

"The same man I've supported for ten years."

"And who is that?"

"My husband."

Old stories of the proverbial assurance of the female domestic are quite eclipsed by the following tale: A young married couple started housekeeping, in Albany, N. Y., and hired a young woman of Hiberian extraction to attend to the "general housework." She was a gem—the acme of neatness, dispatch and culinary proficiency. But she broke her young mistress' heart on the second day by climbing the stairs to the parlor during the call of a social acquaintance, and in a voice about as melodious as a fish horn, inquiring, "Say, Bess, what time does Frank come home for dinner?"

EAST INDIAN ENGLISH.

The Philadelphia North American, as a specimen of "English as she is wrote," copies a petition received by a gentleman in India from an educated native of that country, who wished to secure a situation in the gentleman's household. Here it is:

"Respectfully showeth—that your honor's servant is poor man in agricultural behavior, and much depends on season for the staff of life, therefore he prays that you will favor upon him, and take him into your saintly service that he may have some permanently labor for the support of his soul and his family, wherefore he falls upon his family's bended knees, and implores to you of this merciful consideration to a damnable miserable life, you lordship unfortunate petitioner. That you honor's lordship's servant was too much poorly during the last rains, and was resuscitated by which medicines which made magnificent excavations in the coffers of you honorable servant, whose means are circumscribed by his large family, consisting of five female women, and three masculine, the last of which are still taking milk from mother's chest, and are damnable noiseful through pulmonary catastrophe in their interior abdomen."

PLENTY OF POTATOES.

Every man, woman and child in America has a personal interest in the potato crop, and consequently the country will be delighted to hear that this year's crop is the largest ever grown. It is estimated at 216,264,040 bushels, and if fairly distributed would give every human being in the United States three and three-fifths bushels.

If potatoes are Ireland's main stay, they are the next thing to America's main stay, for cooked in a dozen palatable ways, they form the chief article of diet next to bread of the population. Thoroughly baked, crisp, fried, or boiled dry, they are wholesome, palatable and nutritious.

"Old Hutch" or any speculator may corner wheat to his heart's content, but while potatoes are abundant the people will not go hungry.

ALL ABOUT A GUN.

Considering the fact that this is the hunting season, a few words of advice to that class of hunters who are always forgetfully pointing their own guns at their own selves or bunglingly blowing other peoples heads off, may be appropriate. So we will adopt the phraseology of a screed we find in the local columns of an exchange headed "Don't Monkey with a Gun," as follows:

"Don't point your gun at yourself. Don't point your gun at anyone else. Don't carry your gun so that its range includes all your hunting companions. Don't try to find out whether your gun is loaded or not when it misses fire by shutting one eye and looking down the barrel with the other. Don't use your gun for a walking stick. Don't climb over a fence and pull your gun through muzzle foremost. Don't throw your gun over a log so that the trigger will catch and the charge be deposited in your stomach. Don't carry your gun full cocked Don't carry your gun with the hammer down. Don't use your gun for a sledge hammer. Don't be a fool. Don't you forget it."

Bad Silver Dollars.

The Pittsburg Commercial Gazette says: The counterfeit silver dollar has again made its appearance in some of the towns of Pennsylvania, near the New York state line, and also just within the counties along the bounderies of that state. United States Detective McSweeney left for the upper oil country on Saturday, but refused to talk about the subject of his mission to the locality. He acknowledged that counterfeit coin was being circulated in various parts of the state, but he would not state whether he had any knowledge of the identity of the persons who were making and circlating the bogus money. He said however that highly important developments might be expected in about two weeks.

After the parade the other day a well known Bostonian, who is unfortunate in having a face calculated to stop a clock, approached an officer of the cadets in a patronizing sort of a way and said: "I saw your company to-day, old man. It looked very well, very well indeed." "It was just as we turned into commonwealth Avenue, was it not?" asked the officer. "Yes; but how did you know? Did you see me?" "No," said the officer, "but I noticed the company shied at that point."

"I have made six bets on the election so far," said young Brindle. "Pooh I've made fifty," said young Brinkletop. "But," persisted young Brindle, "I've put up the money on two of my bets." "Wha—what?" grasped young Brinkletop. "Honest, I did." "But what will you do if you lose?" "Oh," answered young Brindle, airly, "I borrowed the the money you know."

UNCONSTITUTIONAL.

The Mechanic's Lien Law is so Declared by the Supreme Court.

Recently the Tribune made brief reference to the fact that Justice Williams, of the state supreme court, had handed down an opinion in the suits of the Fairview iron works vs. the Keystone oil company and Gearing vs. Hapgood, declaring the mechanic's lien law unconstitutional. The following is the full text of the opinion:

"The controlling question in the case is on the constitutionality of the act of January, 17, 1888, entitled 'An act relating to the lien of mechanics and others on buildings.' It undertakes to change the construction of the acts of 1876 and 1845 in regard to the persons embraced within their provisions. The courts had given judicial construction to the acts of 1836 and 1845 in a series of well-considered cases. They had uniformly held that to entitle a mechanic or a material man to a lien upon a building for work done or material furnished, it was necessary that the work or material for which a lien was claimed should have been done or furnished on the basis of a contract, expressed or implied, with the owner, and on the credit of the building. Work done for and materials furnished to a sub-contractor, and work done by journeymen and laborers did not authorize the entry of a lien by the individual laborer, or by him who dealt with a sub-contractor.

"The object of the legislature in passing the act of 1887 was to change the law in such a manner as to extend to and confer upon all laborers and mechanics whose claims amounted to $10 and upwards, by whomever employed, and to all material men, no matter upon whose order the material was furnished, the same right to separate lien as was enjoyed by those who were under the protection of the acts of 1836 and 1845 as declared constitutional by the court. The method adopted for making this change in the law was not by the passage of an act extending the right to a lien for work by a direction to the courts to construe the acts of 1836 and 1845 in such manner as to include the new classes within their provisions.

"The constitution provides, in section 6, of Act III, that 'No law shall be revised, amended, extended, or conferred by a reference to its title only, but so much thereof as is revised, amended, etc., shall be re-enacted and published at length.' The act of 1887 extends or confers the benefits of the acts of 1836 and 1845 to a large class of claimants without the re-enactment of a single one of the provisions of the acts so extended and by reference to their letter only. It would be difficult to imagine a plainer violation of the constitutional provision. The act of 1887 is a judicial order or decree directed to the courts. It undertakes to give a new and final interpretation of the acts of 1836 and 1845, and directs the courts to adopt the interpretation in all cases that may come before them. The court below is therefore ordered to enter into judgement against the defendant.

He Put the Dudes to Work.

A lively little incident from the New York Star now follows:

Recently at midnight three dudes, dressed in the height of fashon, who were returning to their homes in Brooklyn, amused themselves by overturning ash barrels. Their actions were watched by an officer standing in the shade of a near by tree. As they passed under the spreading branches of a tree the policeman came from his ambush, and stopping the trio, said: "This is nice gentlemanly conduct. No doubt to you it's rare fun. Now, if you want to avoid disgrace and the loss of $10 each you must come back with me and I'll show you what to do."

"Oh, only a little joke, old man," explained one of the dudes.

But the officer was obdurate, and made the fellows march to overturned barrel No. 1.

"Now," said the policeman, "place the barrel in its proper position, gather the ashes and rubbish and place them in the barrel."

"But surely you don't mean that?" exclaimed one of the missing links in horror.

"Do what I say, or I'll arrest you," replied the officer.

With great reluctance the three took their first lesson in garbage gathering, and the same operation had to be performed until the four barrels which they had upset had been refilled. When this had been finished the officer allowed them to go home.

The Biggest Man in the World.

Iowa does not only stand at the head of the list as a corn State, but stands at the head, also, for large men. Says a dispatch to the Davenport Tribune: I was one of the two largest men on the train last week, and the two of us weighed just two pounds over half a ton. I weighed 210 pounds and the other fellow weighed just 792 pounds. His name was J. H. Craig. He is 6 feet 4½ inches long, and was born in Iowa City thirty-two years ago. He is said to be the largest man in the world at the present time. He has weighed 833 pounds, but uses tobacco now to keep his weight down below 800.

"Don't call me Mr. Lovell, Miss Malcolm. Call me Cornelius!" "I'd call you Corn if—if——" "If what, Ethel?" "If I thought you'd pop." And he popped.

"Your husband, Mrs. Murphey, is suffering from a complication of diseases. I must first make a diagnosis —" "Kin yer make it out of old muslin, doctor? I havn't a bit of flannel in the house."

Let them down easy.—Clergyman; "Now which of these were the minor prophets?" Small boy [with an air of magnanimous abstinance]: "Well, sir, I really don't care to make any invidious distinctions."

Miss Bruce (who had heard that her friend Miss Deering has had a fall out with Mr. Downey): "Why, I thought, Eugenia, that you and Dick were very solid." Miss Deering (icily): 'Oh, dear, no; only plated."

A little boy—one of a large family—was dining out one day, and his hostess inquired: 'Do you like chicken, Willie?" "I don't know, ma'am. I never tasted anything but the drumstick," was the demure answer.

Magistrate: "Your husband charges you with assault." Madam: "Yes, your honor; I asked him if he would ever cease to love me, and he was so slow in answering that I hit him with a map. I'm only a woman, your honor (tears), and a woman's life without love is a mere blight."

Sanctum Visitor: "Yours is an excellent paper, sir; I have read it regularly for years." Editor: "I am very glad that it has won your good opinion, I trust that you will always like it." "Like it? Why, my next door neighbor has loaned it to me for so long that were he to move away I'd miss the paper awfully."

Daughter: "Mother, I told Edward last night that you had commented on his apparent indifference since our marriage." Mother: "Did you? and what did he have to say?" Daughter; "He gave me a twenty-dollar bill." Mother: "I think Edward is the kindest and best husband that ever lived!"

An Australian missionary tells the following story against himself: "When I asked the word for sin they gave me one for thin," and so I was led into representing that it was hateful to God for man to be thin, and that they would be condemned for it. So they came to the conclusion that it was pleasing to God for people to be fat. In fact, I had been telling them that all lean people went to hell and fat people to heaven."

An infantile Duluthian, whose purposes are somewhat remote from arduous toil, was bidding his mamma good night. Mamma: "Have you been a good boy to-day?" Hopeful: "Yes'm." Mamma: Couldn't you be better to-morrow if you try hard?" Hopeful (thoughtfully): "I don't think so." Mamma: "Haven't you done anything to-day that you are sorry for?" Hopeful (slowly and seriously): "I'm sorry I worked so hard on that woodpile."

Husband: "Prof. Widehead paid you a very fine compliment after dinner last night, my dear:" Wife: "Oh, did he? What did he say?" Husband: "He said that you weren't handsome, but you were one of the most intelligent women he ever met." Wife: 'Prof. What's his name has received his last invitation from me."

Youth—I've got some poetry here I'd like to have you look over.

Editor—Yes, sir. Have you got your license with you?

Youth—My license?

Editor—Yes, your poetic license.

Youth—N-n-no I didn't know I had to have one.

Editor—We never look over any poetry without first seeing the poet's license. Good-day.

Visitor—Well, my little man, have you any brothers?

Freddy—Yes, I have one, but my sister Sallie has two.

Visitor—Why, how can that be?

Freddy (in some astonishment)—Me and my little brother, of coures.

Dressmaker—There doesn't seem to be stuff enough here to make a train three yards long.

Society Belle—Dear me! How much more is needed?

"About half a yard."

"Well, take it off the neck."

Mabel—No, Mr. Kidder, I can never be yours.

Kidder—And is it thus you treat me after leading me on to hope for your hand? But you need not think to escape without explaining your reason for refusing my love. Why will you not be mine?

Mable—Because I cannot write a capital K to save my life.

"Old man, for whom diggest thou this grave?" I asked, as I walked along for I saw in the heart of London streets a dark and busy throng. 'Twas a strange wild deed, but a wilder wish of the parted soul, to lie'midst the troubled number of living men, who would pass him idly by! So I said, "for whom diggest thou this grave, in the heart of London town?" And the deep toned voice of the digger replied, "We're laying a gas-pipe down!"

Carelessness Was The Cause.

A more thorough investigation into the cause that led to the Cook's run mine horor could not have been made. Nearly every mine inspector in the state was present, and William B, Kelley and George L. Miller, the State Board of Mining Engineers, took special pains to get all possible information on the subject. They were in session all day on Thursday, and finally rendered Friday:

"We find that the death was caused by an explosion of dynamite, fulminating caps and black powder, being used by four employers of the mine. From the evidence we cannot censure the company, for we find the mine in a good, healthy, and working condition. If any carelesness, it must have been on part of said employes. We further recommend that the company will in the future prohibit their employes from taking so great an amount of explosive matter into the mine at one time."

Wesley Smoke one of the men injured by the explosion died on Wednesday from the effect of his wounds. Another of the injured men is not expected to get well, and is probably dead by this time.

Eclipses for the Year 1889.

There will be five eclipses next year, three on the sun and two on the moon.

The first is a total eclipse of the sun on January 1, at 5 o'clock, five minutes in the evening; visible at the setting of the sun.

The second is a partial eclipse of the moon on January 17, at 12.19 in the morning; visible here.

The third is an annular eclipse of the sun on June 28, at 3 o'clock, 54 minutes in the evening; visible here.

The fouth is a partial eclipse of the sun on July 12, at 3 o'clock, 44 minutes in the evening; invisible here.

The fifth is a total eclipse of the sun on December 22, at 7 o'clock, 48 minutes in the morning; invisible here.

—The election court talked very plainly, says the Philadelphia Record, on the subject of poll-tax receipts bought by party committees for distribution to voters. While such receipts may serve their purpose when presented to complaisant election officers, it is evident that the court will not sustain the right to vote on such receipt if the ballot should be rejected and appeal made. Judge Allison says the practice of buying receipts at wholesale and giving them to voters is illegal, and Judge Arnold agrees with him. If it is impossible to enforce the law as to personal payment of a poll tax; it would be in the interest of morality to repeal it altogether.

A GREAT MAGAZINE.

The Century for 1889.

THE question has often been asked, "to what does The Century owe its great circulation?" The Christian Union once answered this by the statement that "it has been fairly won, not by advertising schemes, but by the excellence which characterizes it in every department." In their announcements for the coming year the publishers state that it has always been their desire to make The Century the one indispensable periodical of its class, so that whatever other publication might be desirable in the family, The Century could not be neglected by those who wish to keep abreast of the times in all matters pertaining to culture. And the unprecedented circulation of the magazine would seem to be the response of the public to this intention.

With the November number The Century begins its thirty-seventh volume. Two great features of the magazine which are to continue throughout the new volume are already well known to the public, the Lincoln history and the papers on "Siberia and the Exile System." The first of these, written by Messrs. Nicolay and Hay, President Lincoln's private secretaries, contains the inside history of the dark days of the war, as seen from the White House.

THE SIBERIAN PAPERS,

by George Kennan, are attracting the attention of the civilized world. The Chicago Tribune says that "no other magazine articles printed in the English language just now touch upon a subject which so vitally interests all thoughtful people in Europe and America and Asia." As is already known, copies of The Century entering Russia have these articles torn out by the customs officials on the frontier.

DURING 1889

The Century will publish the most important art feature that has yet found place in its pages. It is the result of four years' work of Mr. Timothy Cole, the leading magazine engraver of the world, in the galleries of Europe, engraving from the originals the greatest pictures by the old masters. A series of papers on Ireland, its customs, landscapes, etc., will appear, and there are to be illustrated articles on Bible scenes, treating especially the subjects of the International Sunday-School Lessons. George W. Cable will write "Strange, True Stories of Louisiana." There will be novelettes and short stories by leading writers, occasional articles on war subjects (supplemental to the famous "War Papers" by General Grant and others, which have been appearing in The Century), etc., etc.

The Century costs four dollars a year, and it is published by The Century Co., of New York, who will send a copy of the full prospectus to any one on request.

People Pay Heavy Bills

For medicinal attendance and medicine. Sickness is expensive, and those with small incomes feel this burden keenly. The physician must sometimes be called but he is not needed one-tenth as often as many think. What is required is a family medicine; one that will relieve and cure those ailments which are liable to come at any season and to attack both sexes and all ages. Amid the host of articles that are offered to the public for this purpose nearly all are useless or worse than useless. It is no vain boast to say that the medicine herein mentioned is of a very different character. What it has done is known to multitudes of persons whom it has cured of weary and painful diseases. It has saved time, money and many dear and precious lives. Now please understand that as the life is in the blood so disease and death are in the blood. Get the poison out of the blood and life and health at once return to every part of the body. Dr. Brown's Sarsaparilla does this work quickly and surely through its direct and positive action upon the stomach, bowels, kidneys, liver and skin. For all waste and corrupt elements must be cast off by means of these channels. Rheumatism, scrofula, bronchitis, gout, consumption, malaria, catarrh, bay fever, all skin affections and eruptions are diseases of the blood.

Mr. George H. Wish, of the firm of Thaxter & Wish, Bangor, Me., was afflicted with a scrofulous humor which caused troublesome sores upon both his legs. Many remedies were used and several physicians consulted, without success. After taking Brown's Sarsaparilla a short time he was better, and soon the eruptions disappeared and he is now all right. This is only one of a thousand victories gained by

—Of all the new residences none are equal to Mr. Howard Lingle's in an artistic point of view and it promises to excell all others in this respect for several years to come.

—The Democratic county committee held a meeting in Bellefonte on Friday morning and prepared a telegram to send to Stanley M. Quay, asking that gentleman not to send any more news, or they would have nothing left.

—The children of Mr. Frank Cessna, on Lamb street, have been quite seriously affected with mumps. All have convalesced except Ray, who is now very ill, his condition being almost alarming. They are all very sweet little children and we trust the skill of his physician will prove efficacious.

Nye & Riley's Railway Guide. By BILL NYE and JAMES WHITCOMB RILEY. Railway Guides have always been gotten up for the express purpose of bewildering the traveler, who seldom gets any satisfaction in his search for information. Nye and Riley, who have found the best way to reach the heart and understanding at all times, will, especially in this book, amuse and instruct the tired occupant of a railway car. The person who does not buy this book will regret it, and if he doesn't laugh till his sides ache, or find his heart touched with the tenderest sympathy he has no capacity for humor or human feeling.

The book is profusely and richly illustrated from sketches by Zimmermann and Opper, the artists of Judge and Puck respectively; De Grimm the well known New York artist, and McDogall the World artist.

But one need not wait till he travels before he buys, as it is just as funny and attractive at home or in the office.

DR. HOSTETTER.

Who He Was and How He Made a Great Fortune Out of His Bitters.

Mr. David Hostetter, who died suddenly in New York Monday last, was a native of Lancaster County, having been born in West Hempfield Township, January 23, 1819. He was the son of Jacob Hostetter, M. D., who was also born in that county. His great-grandfather, also named Jacob Hostetter, was a German and settled in Lancaster County in 1735, at a time when it was very sparsely settled and in a state of virginal wildness. At this date he built a stone house, still standing upon a property in the possession of his lineal descendants. He was also a large land-holder, occupying over 600 acres of land, of which 320 acres were bequeathed to his son, who in turn divided this legacy between his two children, the third son being disinherited on account of his disloyalty to the cause of his country during the war of 1812, in which his father and uncle had participated.

Dr. David Hostetter was educated in Lancaster and at the age of fifteen entered a dry goods store in that city as a salesman.

In 1840 he began on his own account, with moderate success, until 1860 when he moved to California and settled in San Francisco. In the following September, however, his entire stock was destroyed by fire, and he returned to his home much discouraged.

In 1853 he entered into a partnership with General W. Smith, and began the manufacture of the famous Hostetter Bitters, at first employing but six hands, the force being steadily increased until it numbered over two hundred. The formula of the manufature of the bitters was discovered by his father's Dr. Jacob Hostetter, and proved as valuable as a gold mine. It is estimated that Mr. Hostetter made at least ten millions out of his bitters alone. As he prospered he became prominently indentified with all the principal Pittsburg enterprises, and was a strong factor in their success. Mainly through him the now famous South Penn was started, and he invested very heavily in that road and in land along its route. In 1845 he was married to Rosetta Rickey of Cincinnati, Ohio.

He is a striking example of a self made man, and is remarkable for the indefatigable perservance in surmounting many and prostrating difficulties, his acute foresight, and the shrewd ability manifested in all the operations of an extensive business conducted with probity, enterprise and prudent economy. He was warmly interested in all local movements tending to improve the commercial interests of the State, and has always evinced a cheerful readiness to assist substantially in charitable and philanthropic measures.

WHY AMBER IS EXPENSIVE.

'Why is it that amber is so expensive?' asked a reporter of a Nassau street pipemaker recently.

"Because it is not very plentiful, and then the trouble of collecting it is very great. The only place where it is found to any great extent is in the Baltic sea. There the vein runs from Russia to Denmark, Norway and Sweeden. In the olden times it used to be picked up on the shores of the Baltic, where it was washed after a heavy storm. A number of persons used to make their livelihood by collecting the amber, and they do now for all I know. The demand for it during the past few years has grown so much that engineering appliances are used to collect it. Dredging boats are sent out in the fine weather. These boats have long strings of iron pails that are constantly dragging up the bottom of the sea and turning their contents on the decks of the boat. There the amber is quickly picked out and the remainder thrown overboard. Another method of collecting amber is by the diver. The diver goes down with the regular divers' costume, and by means of an air pump are enabled to remain under the water for four or five hours. All the amber these men collect they place in a bag, and when coming on land are rewarded according to their find. This vein of amber has been found to run under the land as well as under the sea, and a mine has now been sunk to a depth of 150 feet below the sea level and is worked just like a coal mine.

Jack—"Say, Dick, why don't you marry that Miss Jones if you esteem her so highly?" Dick—"There are serious objections to such a step, Jack." —"Objections? I am sure she is pretty enough, amiable, intelligent, of good family and not without worldly inheritance. What possible objection can you have?" Dick—"I s'pose I can tell you something in confidence and you won't repeat it?" Jack—"Every time, old boy; what is it?" Dick—"The objections were filed by Miss Jones."

They met in a horse-car, two young women whose tawny faces showed that they were just back from the seashore, and when they had kissed and embraced and been through all the preliminary nonsense necessary to the occasion, one said to the other: "Oh! you dear thing! I had such a flirtation with your husband while you were down East. He came to Nantasket almost every night." "Yes, he wrote me about it," the other returned sweetly. "He said you didn't seem to know anybody, and were so lonely he quite pitied you."

BUSINESS MAY BE BETTER.

Governor Beaver Thinks Harrison's Election will Make a Boom.

Governor Beaver, who made speeches for the Republicans in New York, New Jersey, Connecticut and Indiana, gave it as his opinion that the election of Harrison will be followed by improved business throughout the country, as it has removed troublesome uncertainties involved in the success of the Democratic party. Manufacturers had been deterred from piling up a surplus of products because of a fear that an administration opposed to the present protective system might, by enforcing its views, detrimentally affect prices of articles made by them. The change of administration would also promote purchases by persons who have held back in the hope of being able to buy cheaper under the proposed change of the tariff system.

The policy of the new administration, the Governor thought, would be to promote the industrial development of the South, which would have a very happy effect on that portion of this country. The Southern manufacturers would in his opinion, be allies of protection if it were not for the prominence given the race question.

The Governor thought the new administration would revise the present Tariff laws with a view of correcting its defects and reducing the Government surplus. General Harrison received warm compliments for the deliberation with which he approached great questions.

LOOKING INTO THE HEAVENS.

The Lick telescope, if rumor is to be believed, has revealed much that was heretofore unknown, but exact statements are withheld until the observations can be confirmed. Its great value has induced negotiations for a still larger telescope, to be set up near Los Angelos for the university of Southern California. The lens of this projected instrumet is to be 42 inches in diameter; and is estimated to cost $100,000. Alva Clark of Cambridge, says that it will take five years to make such a lens. The clearness of the atmosphere in California recommends it as a suitable place for astronomical observations with the best instruments that can be made, and the erection of the Lick Observatory seems to have greatly stimulated the interest felt there in astronomical studies.

—Another case of didn't know it was loaded occurred in Houtzdale on Thursday. Miss Jennie Rubinowitz was seated in her brother's store engaged in writing when a traveling salesman entered. He picked up a revolver which was lying near by and commenced handling it in that free and easy manner for which such gentleman are noted. But it was discharged and the contents inflicted quite a painful flesh wound in Miss Jennie's arm.

MRS. LEVI P. MORTON.

Levi P. Morton is said to be worth wenty million dollars. He will be the richest Vice President the country ever had. His town residence is on Fifth Avenue, New York city; his country seat at Rinebeck, New York.

The wife of the Vice President elect is a handsome woman, taller than the average and matronly in proportions without being stout. Her countenance is pale, her features are finely formed and her eyes, which are large and blue, are very expressive of the amiability and refinement of her nature. But for her grey hair time has dealt kindly with Mrs. Morton. She is the mother of six children, of whom the only boy is dead. The eldest is 14 years old, and the Morton establishment is blessed with a baby. Its interesting family of girls are being brought up in the Episcopal Church, of which Mr. and Mrs. Morton are communicants. Their mother is what Artemus Ward called a "female" woman. Her world is her home, and she is happy in it. She is, of course, an accomplished lady excelling in music.

Mrs. Morton's age has not yet been revealed to the curious public. Her maiden name was Anna Livingstone Street, and she is a native of Poughkeepsie, N.Y. where her father was a lawyer in practice and where she was educated. Subsequently her family left Poughkeepsie and made their residence in New York, where Mr. Morton had the good fortune to make one of the sweetest of American girls his wife. Mrs. Morton has been quite a traveler, but she loves America best.

For a month or two past there has been great excitement in Manitoba regarding railroad affairs, but the cause of the trouble is not clearly understood in this section of the country. A Western contemporary thus explains it: That province is simply trying to build a railroad connecting with the great railroad system of the United States Northwest. The natural outlet of the Manitoba is found in such a rail connection as shall tap the American line which has reached the boundary. The Canadian Pacific being a Dominion institution and an Ottawa monopoly, is endeavoring to hold all Manitoba for its own, Manitoba present and Manitoba future. The local Provincial Government of Manitoba, in its natural attempt to give the people of the province a short route to the United States, is resisted by the Canadian Pacific, back of which stands the Dominion Government. By the action of the courts in enjoining the building of the Manitoba line, it is held, in effect, that it is unlawful for any railroad to cross the Canadian at any point between Montreal and the Rockey Mountains. An appeal is to be made to the Supreme Court at Ottawa, but Winnipeg opinion is that that tribunal will simply confirm the claim of the Canadian Pacific to a monopoly covering the territory through which it runs. A special session of the Manitoba Legislature has been summoned, at which it is proposed to repeal the taxation exemption which was voted the Canadian Pacific at the time of its construction. This will be retaliation as far as it goes, but the matter will not stop there. The Manitobans are determined to have that railway if they have to leave the Dominion and join the United States to get it.

THE KIND OF MAN HE IS.

Those who know Gen. Harrison will credit him with a great deal of firmness, and at the same time they credit him with large intelligence, much experience, knowledge of men and fine reasoning qualities, in which latter respect he is totally unlike Mr. Cleveland. The new President will be no novice in public affairs as Mr. Cleveland was. He will not have everything to learn with a poor capacity for learning, as Mr. Cleveland had. Unlike him he has had experience, and is a statesman by nature and habit. He will be firm with reason, but not simply stubborn. He will be President without being dictator, while he will be tenacious of his own views he will respect the views of others. A man of great self-reliance, he knows what is due to others with contrary views. A strong man, he will not be guilty of believing he knows it all, and that his way is the only right way. General Harrison is a strong man among men, and will be a strong, capable and patriotic President.

On Saturday, Nov. 10, Mrs. George Hirch, of Navarro county, Texas, gave birth to six children. Mother and children are doing well, and the father is as happy as can be expected. Four are girls and two boys. The babies have been tagged to preserve their identity.

—Repairs are still in progress on the front of the Presbyterian church.

—The tracks of the Pennsylvania railroad are now being moved to the west side of the station building.

—No political jollification in Bellefonte, which fact suits us admirably as the campaign has been too long any way.

—The Machine shop of Jenkins & Lingle is being painted a brilliant red. It showed off to advantage on Tuesday afternoon in the bright rays of the sun.

—About one hundred and fifty Republicans went to Lock Haven on Tuesday evening to engage in the jollification in that city. They had a pleasant time.

—Gen. Harrison's Cabinet will have eight heads of Department, Congress having provided for the Department of Agriculture, the Secretary of which will be a member of the Cabinet.

—Mr. David Brickley, a well known citizen of Curtin township, died at his home at 11 o'clock on Monday night, after quite a protracted illness. The funeral occurred at 10 o'clock this morning.

—The ladies who are preparing for the Star course of lectures have concluded to fix the price of season tickets at $2.00 instead of $1.50 as we have stated. A change has also been made in the list. Rev. Russel Conwell of Philadelphia, will be the first.

—On Monday evening Gregg Post met, there being a large attendance. All the committees were appointed to arrange for the reception of the department officers on the 11th of December. At that time a public camp fire will be held in the Court House.

—There will be no family tickets of admission to the Star Course of lectures, to be given under the auspices of the W. C. T. U. It is likely, though, if the Court House can be secured, that a reduction will be made for the admission of young people under a certain age.

—The Methodist ladies have been compelled to change the place for their fair from Crider's building to the store recently occupied by Sourbeck & Co., in Bush's Arcade. It will begin on Tuesday evening with a chicken and waffle supper. Articles are to be sent to the room Tuesday morning.

—At the meeting of the School Board on Tuesday evening, Mr. Samuel Williams was unanimously elected to fill the vacancy in the West ward occasioned by the death of the late Mr. S. A. Stover. The Board also adopted Gardner's School History of England for use in the High School.

—There was a special meeting of council on Tuesday evening called to consider a proposal from the Messrs. Collins to permit them to tap the water pipe near Spangler and Gephart's houses on Spring street. They ask for the privilege of using the water only one year and will pay all the expenses. They will put down one-inch pipe. The request was granted.

—The ladies of the Methodist church have been busy about two months preparing for their fair which will begin in Bush's new Arcade on Tuesday of next week and continue all week. They determined to make this a great event and the collection of beautiful articles which they will display will delight the taste of all who will visit the fair, and of course all the ladies and gentlemen will be there. Refreshments served each day.

The State Returns.

Up to noon Tuesday not half of the counties of the State have sent their returns to the State Department. This year Chief Clerk Gearhart sent out special instructions, exceedingly explicit, concerning the manner in which returns should be made out, but for all that he will have to send back a number of returns because they are incomplete; names are omitted, certificates not sent, no Presidential vote sent, and sometimes the entire State ticket left out. This will delay matters, and although Mr. Gearhart had made every preparation for a quick competation, it will be at least a week before the correct returns will be footed up.

—The Shah of Persia, to do away with the nuisance of a riot at the Teheran railroad station, stopped all traffic on the entire road. For this purpose he obliged the Minister of War and other personages to ride up and down the entire line warning everybody around not to begin rioting any more. Persia has a Minister residing in Washington who is said to be a bright, observing man. Whether he will conclude that it would be better to transfer the American system to Persia or the Persian system to America, is yet to be seen. As yet, it is understood, he thinks the Persian system is best.

Herr Most has a theory that the "silent march of intellect" is going to convert the world to anarchism. As a matter of fact this apostle of bloodshed and violence has an original way of spelling intellect—"b-e-e-r."

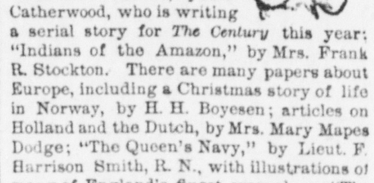
The republican majority in the next National House of Representatives will be from 10 to 15. Sufficient for all practical purposes.

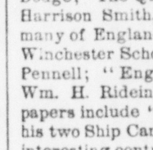
FOR CHILDREN OF ALL AGES.

St. Nicholas for 1889.

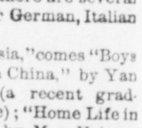
PEOPLE who have the idea that St. Nicholas Magazine is only for little children should look over the prospectus of that magazine for 1889, and they will discover that it is for children of all ages, "from five to eighty-five," as some one recently said of it. Indeed, while St. Nicholas is designed for girls and boys, it might almost be called a "family magazine," for the grown-up members of a household will find much to interest them in every number.

The editor, Mrs. Mary Mapes Dodge, calls the next volume an "all-round-the-world year," because it is to contain so many illustrated papers about the world in general—not dry geographical papers, but stories and sketches and tales of travel and adventure by land and sea—and all illustrated by the best artists. The features will include a serial story, "How We Made the Farthest North," by Gen. A. W. Greely, the well-known commander of the Greely Expedition; a serial about Canada, by Mrs. Catherwood, who is writing a serial story for The Century this year; "Indians of the Amazon," by Mrs. Frank R. Stockton. There are many papers about Europe, including a Christmas story of life in Norway, by H. H. Boyesen; articles on Holland and the Dutch, by Mrs. Mary Mapes Dodge; "The Queen's Navy," by Lieut. F. Harrison Smith, R. N., with illustrations of many of England's finest war ships; "The Winchester School," illustrated by Joseph Pennell; "English Railway Trains," by Wm. H. Rideing, etc., etc. The French papers include "Ferdinand de Lesseps and his two Ship Canals," and there are several interesting contributions or German, Italian and Russian subjects.





Under "Asia," comes "Boys and Girls in China," by Yan Phou Lee (a recent graduate of Yale); "Home Life in the East," by Mrs. Holman Hunt, and a number of papers about Japan. Under "Africa" there is a sketch of Henry M. Stanley, by Noah Brooks, and several stories about Egypt. Australia is not forgotten, nor the islands of the sea, and there are even to be stories of under the sea.



Of course the bulk of the contents will relate to American subjects, as usual. Mrs. Burnett, the author of "Little Lord Fauntleroy," contributes a story of New York called "Little Saint Elizabeth;" there will be papers describing how the government offices are conducted, papers about athletics, amateur photography, etc. The full prospectus will be sent to any one who wishes to see it by the publishers, The Century Co., of New York.

The Graphic recently said of St. Nicholas "the family without it is only half-blessed."

The South Pennsylvania Road.

George F. Baer, of the Reading Railroad's Board of Directors, one of the counsel retained by the Vanderbilt heirs and others in the South Pennsylvania Railroad case, was in Philadelphia Monday, and when questioned as to the effect of David Hostetter's death on the plans for re organization of the South Pennsylvania Railroad said that although Dr. Hostetter was a large holder of stock there would most probably be no impairment of the scheme. The continuation of argument in the South Pennsylvania controversy is called for November 14, in New York.

—The art of making fancy work never reached a more complete developement than at the present day. An infinite variety of learning on the subject has been published and the genius of the ladies have added to this until marvels of beauty are the result. The ladies belonging to the Y. W. C. T. U. have no superiors in this art and on Friday the product of their best taste will be seen in their rooms in Bush's Arcade. The doll's clothes will be especially beautiful. Be sure to visit the fair and inspect the collection.

Soap at the "Eureka!"

(The Romans considered soap to be a Celtic invention). This well known material, according to Pliny, first become known to the Romans by their conquest of Gaul. There are some notices of it in the English version of the Bible, but it is believed that the words borith and nether, there rendered soap, really mean potash and soda.

In this country and in the northern part of Europe, Hard soap is made from tallow, cotton seed oil, palm oil, bone greese, and kitchen fat, by boiling the solution with caustic soda. The only other ingredient of consequence is rosin the residuum of the distilation of rough turpentine. There have been numerous patents taken out for improvement in soap making, some are excellent but many and perhaps most of them, are more for the purpose of cheapening by the addition of various articles to soap in its semi fluid state than of improving its quality. There are soaps that are used for medicinal purposes, but as we do not deal in that particular kind we will not speak of them at this time. Of the soaps to be found at the Eureka Grocery we can mention a long list and all of them are good for the price. Among those which sell the most readily are Buffalo soap manufactured by R. W. Bell & Co. of Buffalo, New York. Of course the manufacturer says it is the "best in the market," and in our own judgment it is a good article, it sells for five cents a bar.

Then there is the Atlantic German, also a five cent bar, manufactured by the same firm and well worth the money.

Also the "Excelsior," a five cent soap by same manufacturer.

The Ivory and Oline are soaps of a higher grade, they are good but have been so much advertised that we need not dwell on them at length. One of the most popular soaps we have is the "Tom, Dick and Harry." This soap is put up in packages, three cakes in a package and sells for ten cents, a little over three cents a cake, and every cake is as large as the ordinary five cent cakes. The manufacturer says This soap is made from the finest selected material. It is especially adapted for Laundry, kitchen and general Household Use. It is guaranteed to be perfectly and absolutely pure.

"It will float."

It will wash in hot or cold water. It makes the clothes perfectly white and clean. Being based upon an entirely new discovery, it is the cheapest and most economical soap ever made.

We will add that if the above is absolutely true it is indeed a cheap soap.

One evidence that it is good is the fact that it sells, and the buyers come again for it week after week, those who use it tell us that it is a very good article. We sell Hundreds of packages of this soap and have about half a car load now on the way to supply present needs. We never knew until we got into this business that the people of Centre County used so much soap; we are confident now that all are trying to keep clean, that the war against dirt is carried on vigorously every day by our people.

To return to five cent soaps we will mention, Floating soap, Besion, Lenox Hector, Bon Voyage, Babbitt, Mechanics Pride, a floating tar soap especially adapted to the use of Mechanics of all trades, it is "death on dirt."

Just here we will speak of Grandpas Wonder soap of which the Mechanic's Pride mentioned above is a counterfeit, and like all imitations is of course not as good as the original THE first is a five cent article, the last costs two times as much. The first is recommended by its makers to be as good as the last, yet the first is sold to the retail merchant so he can sell it for half the price of the last and make more money on the sale. The first however we consider well worth the price asked for it, the last is as good as can be, a good article for Machinists, Engineers, Firemen, Foundry men, Miners, Coal Handlers, Printers, Painters, Farmers, &c It will make the skin soft. Will cure chapped hands. Will remove dandruff. Will keep the hair from falling out. Will remove tar or greese from silks or woolen fabrics. It is a vegetable oil soap. Lathers freely in the hardest water.

We will now speak of SOAPS FOR CLEANING METALS. We have Days sand soap, an excellent article for scouring. It has a large sale, of course it scratches for it has sand in it, but the Daisy soap for brightening metals is The Modoc. This is truly a wonder in this particular. We have tried its merits and it is first class, but good as it is we do not think it will brighten up a tarnished character. The manufacturer says it is the only combined soap cleaner and polisher in the market.

Why you should use it!

1. Because it works easier, quicker and better on Paints, Varnish, Fine surface work, tal in mirror immings, Gold, Silver, Base Tin, Nickel plate without scratcors, injuryi than any other compound ever manufactured.

2. Because it is a splendid Toilet soap, leaving the skin soft and smooth.

3 Because it is best and cheapest for general household use and for all purposes.

One word more on soap and we are done. There was a great rush of soap agents last week and just as we thought the supply was exausted who should pop in on us but J.C. Weaver with a bar of soap in his pocket manufactured at Erie, Pa., by the, elder Swalley, the father of our friend who so lately occupied the position of secretary to the Y. M. C. A. here at Bellefonte. According to Weaver this soap just "takes the cake;" there is nothing like it in the market, it is called "Sea Foam" and they who wash with it will become "whiter than snow," yes, "whiter than snow." We are not so sure that this will not wash a blackened character pure and white. After we got over our surprise at seeing our friend Weaver in the soap business we gave him an order for soap. We are satisfied that those who see this soap will be pleased with it. It is a beautiful article for the toilet. At the Eureka we have everything as well as soap, all kinds of groceries fresh and new.

Resuming Business at the Old Stand.

Mr. Samuel W. Baker, of Des Moines, Iowa, spent several months in Centre county the past summer, but returned home in time to vote for Harrison. He is delighted with the result not only in the county at large, but also in his own country. He says that when he wrote, November 9, the Republicans of Des Moines were indulging in a grand rejoicing, The following characteristic notice is from him and will be read with interest by all who found it so profitable to do business with the old firm prior to 1884:

RESUMING BUSINESS.

MR. EDITOR:—In 1884, it was insinuated that the books in Uncle Sam's business house were not properly kept and that an examination should be made. Accordingly a committee was appointed—whether rightfully or not does not appear—to make the necessary researches and report, which report is before the share-holders in the concern declaring that the books are all right. The report of said committee being adopted by the parties in interest, it was decided on the 6th of November, 1888, to discharge the committee from further investigation. Therefore notice is given to the public that the old firm will resume business at the old stand, Washington City, on the 4th of March, 1889, when all patrons will be treated as in the past history of the firm, with fairness and respect, without regard to race, color or previous condition of servitude. SAM. W. BAKER.

Patents Recently Granted.

R. M. Bailey, Williamsport, telephone circuit.

R. Belfield, Pittsburg, electric discharge device.

P. Barg, Braddock, valve seat for hot blast stoves.

O. B. Bradford, Beaver Falls, shoe.

H. C. Campbell, Pittsburg, gas main.

E. L. Clark, Pittsburg, mold for casting ingots.

G. H. Coldwell, Rockton, gate for splash dams.

J. M. Cooper, West Bellevue, furnace.

M. E Hirshey, Harrisburg, steam boiler setting.

J. M. Heverly, Coalport, signal lantern.

W. Hill, Towanda, mowing machine.

M. W. Long, Harrisburg, railway signal.

M. H. McNair, Meadville, tube expander.

L. A. Shattuck, Bloomsburg, cuff holder.

B. Urban, Lancaster, heater and ventilator.

A Turning Point!

The decision of the Bell Telephone cases by the United States Supreme Court, does not settle the validity of the patents, by any means; but it is the first break of a long line of decisions in which it only appeared necessary for the Bell Company to come into court and get exactly the decision it needed.

The decision of the Supreme Court affirms exactly the principles that have been urged ever since the litigation has commenced. It recognizes the necessity of having the validity of the patents determined beyond question. Since private parties have been unable to get the question considered by the courts, apparently on sound legal grounds, the inference is plain that the Government must be the proper plaintiff in a suit to test the whole question. This the Supreme Court declares to be the correct view; and it sends the case back to the Circuit Court to be tried on its merits.

HOW THEY LIKE IT.

BY SALLIE CONDO.

The election racket's over
And Old Bennie's won the race;
There's hunks and gobs of gloom
On each Democratic face.
They've heard and they have felt it,
For by no uncertain sound,
Free Trade and its upholders
Are forever voted down.

There is sadness, too, in England,
And we hear the doleful whine
Far beyond the briny ocean
Of the greedy English lion—
As he raises from his couch
And sadly sulks away;
While the barriers of Protection
Safely holds his wonted prey.

There's sadness, and we see them
With their woe be-haunted look,
As they hold their secret session
In some side or private nook.
They're discussing "Free Tobacco,"
And the woolen tariff woes,
With the amber all a-stringing
Down their common cotton clothes.

There's sadness, deepest sadness;
They feel their day is o'er;
They feel their sun is set,
And set to rise no more.
For they fear the ninety census,
And those young states up northwest,
Will put their Solid South
Forever to peaceful rest.

There's sadness, yes and sickness,
And some have nearly died;
There's been a general shaking up
Of the long unterrified.
If you meet one stop and ask him
With a taunted smile or nod,
How he thinks they like it
Since they shot their free trade wad.

Another Victim of Diptheria in Boggs Township.

Arthur Elmer, son of William and Jane Nyman, died of the dread scourge diptheria on the 23d of October last, aged four years eleven months and fourteen days. His loss is much lamented by his parents as he was their only boy; but he has gone to a better realm. On last Saturday, November the 10th, his cousin, Hannah, a daughter of John and Nancy Nyman, aged 18 years, 1 month and 8 days, also died of the same disease. She was a fine, hale, rosy girl, with fair prospects of long life, and much beloved by all who knew her. She had formally made a profession of faith in Christ, and she left the shores of mortality rejoicing in the triumphs of faith in Christ her Saviour. Her remains were laid into Fairview cemetery, on last Sunday, Rev. J. Zeigler officiating. X

—Gen. Harrison perhaps owes his election to the Presidency to his Christian character. He is a pillar of the First Presbyterian Church, and what is more, follows closely its precepts. In some ways he is almost Puritanical; for instance, his observance of Sunday. He always attends church at least once, and the remainder of the day, gives himself entirely up to rest. He does not even allow his Sunday mail to be delivered until Monday, and writes no letters himself. It is doubtful if a stricter church member has ever been elected to the Presidency.

—Tim Keefe, the pitcher for the New York base ball club, was in Boston on Monday. He told a reporter that there was no truth in the statement of a New York paper that there had been a coolness between him and John Ward. Keefe laughed at the idea and said that Ward and himself were, and, always had been on the best of terms.

TOLEDO, O, Jan. 10, 1887.

Messrs. F. J. Cheney & Co.—Gentlemen:—I have been in the general practice of medicine for most 40 years, and would say that in all my practice and experience, have never seen a reparation that I could prescribe with as much confidence of success as I can Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by you. Have prescribed it a great many times and its effect is wonderful, and would say in conclusion that I have yet to find a case of Catarrh that it would not cure if they would take it according to directions.

Catarrh

May affect any portion of the body where the mucous membrane is found. But catarrh of the head is by far the most common, and the most liable to be neglected. It cannot be cured by local applications. Being a constitutional disease it requires a constitutional remedy like Hood's Sarsaparilla, which, working through the blood, eradicates the impurity which causes and promotes the catarrh, and soon effects a permanent cure. At the same time Hood's Sarsaparilla builds up the whole system, and makes one feel renewed in strength and health. If you suffer from catarrh, be sure to try Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Ringing Noises

Impure Blood

"I used Hood's Sarsaparilla for catarrh, and received great relief and benefit from it. The catarrh was very disagreeable, especially in the winter, causing constant discharge from my nose, ringing noises in my ears, and pains in the back of my head. The effort to clear my head in the morning by hawking and spitting was painful. Hood's Sarsaparilla gave me relief immediately, while in time I was entirely cured. I am never without the medicine in my house as I think it is worth its weight in gold." MRS. G. B. GIBB, 1029 Eighth St., N. W., Washington, D. C.

A THOUGHT.

What matters if thou doth forgive
If thou doth not forget,
The evil thou condoned will live
And be an evil yet!

Better to check the rising thought,
The fault may magnify;
And what was trivial in the past,
Be grievous in thine eye!

The past is but an empty part!
The present we should live;
And each inscribe upon our heart
The ample word forgive!

If we could deceive the world as readily as we can ourselves, what amount of deception would be successfully practiced.

COURT PROCLAMATION.—Whereas, the Hon. A. O. Furst, President Judge of the Court of Common Pleas of the 49th judicial district, consisting of the Counties of Centre and Huntingdon and the Hon. Chester Munson and the Hon. Daniel Rhoads, Associate Judges in Centre county, having issued their precept, bearing date the 25th day of Oct., A. D. 1888, to me directed, for holding a court of Oyer and Terminer and General Jail Delivery and Quarter Sessions of the peace in Bellefonte, for the County of Centre, and to commence on the fourth Monday of Nov., being the 26th day of Nov., 1888, and to continue two weeks, notice is hereby given to the Coroner, Justices of the Peace, Aldermen and Constables of said County of Centre, that they be then and there in their proper persons, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon of the fourth Monday, the 26th day of November, 1888, with their records, inquisitions, examinations, and their own remembrances, to do those things which to their office appertains to be done, and those who are bound in recognizances to prosecute against the prisoners that are or shall be in the jail of Centre county, be then and there to prosecute against them as shall be just.

Given under my hand, at Bellefonte, the 25th day of Oct., in the year of our Lord, 1888, and in the one hundred and thirteenth year of the independence of the United States.

GOING WITH SACKVILLE WEST.

A Philadelphia Gentleman Writes to Lord Admiral of the Salt River Expedition to take Care of a Bellefonte Passenger.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 8, 1888.

Mr. Sackville Burchard West,
H. B. M. Lord Admiral of the Salt River Naval Expedition,
Washington D. C.

SIR—Having heard of your appointment as Lord Admiral of the Salt River Expedtion by Her Most Gracious Majesty Victoria D. G. Queen of Great Britian, Empress of India, etc., I very respectfully introduce to your kind consideration my benighted friend, Mr. Andrew Jackson Cruse, of Bellefonte, Pa., who, perforce, must join your expedition. You have shown such a deep interest in the success of your dear friend, Grover, during the campaign, that I would be glad if you would give my Bourbon friend Cruse a snug berth on board your own Flag Ship: "Free Trade." I will request you to give him Rice and Sugar a la Mills bill with his diet of corn as his stomach is somewhat weak and I fear an exclusive diet of corn may not be good for him.

I particularly request that you have my benighted friend carefully guarded during his spells of mental aberation or he may jump overboard. You can always tell when these paroxysms are coming on him by his talking on Free Trade, Revenue Reform, Free Raw Material, etc, on which subjects he knows absolutely nothing. He is also subject to delusions and hallucinations, during which he figures great comfort out of the returns from Maine, the abuse of Blaine whom he imagines is still running for President. He also imagines that your dear friend Grover (for whom you had the goodness to write that nice friendly letter to Murchison) is the Greatest Statesman since Washington and Lincoln. I dare say he imagines that your lordship is also a great statesman on account of your Murchison letter. Another sad evidence of his mental condition, which I feel assured will greatly influence you in his behalf, is the enclosed taken from that eminently truthful free trade, Cleveland paper, vide The Record, of Oct. 29, 1888.

TO FIGHT QUAY.

Inclosed find draft for $60 collected in two hours in Bellefonte, Pa., for the crusade against Quay. A. J. CRUSE.

Wherein you will see he, poor fellow, foolishly contributes $60 "to fight Quay." I fear the loss of this money may have a very depressing effect on him and his next delusion may be one of revenue reform to make up this wasting of his surplus of $60, flung to the dogs of corruption, by wearing his last summer's duster and living on snow balls next winter to make up his loss.

Trusting that you will take good care of my friend during your four years "Cruse" on account of his antiquated and moss covered political views as well as his present mental condition, which I assure you is such as will command your kind commisseration; thanking you as a Republican for your Murchison letter, which so greatly helped to cook Cleveland's political goose, I remain your lordship's most ob't humble servant,

J. R. MUFFLY.

—All the great classical authors, with the exception of Dickens, did their best work when their years had either numbered two score or were approaching that limit. Such was the case with Scott and Thackeray and Fielding and George Elliot. Richard D. Blackmore gave the world "Lorna Doone" when he was 45. But many extremely good novels have been composed at a more youthful period. George Meredith wrote "The Ordeal of Richard Feverel" before he was 31. Thomas Hardy has never done anything better than when "Far from the Madding Crowd," published when he was 34. At 24 Mr. James Payne began to publish, and he has never either risen above or fallen below the level on which he started. R. Louis Stevenson won his first success when he was 28.

—The grocery store of Robert Barnes, at Bellefonte, was burned Monday evening. Loss, about $800; insurance, $1,000. The fire is supposed to be of an incendiary origin.—Tyrone Herald.

Stop that, now. Everything don't happen in Bellefonte. There is no Robert Barnes in Bellefonte and as for fires we have stopped indulging in that amusement. That fire occurred some other place in this part of the world.

—Miss Mame Meyer of Centre Hall recently gave a reception modeled after those of ancient times. The maidens and their gallants were attired in antique garb. The amusements were also the same as in by gone days and were enjoyable.

The treatment of many thousands of cases of those chronic weaknesses and distressing ailments peculiar to females, at the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y., has afforded a vast experience in nicely adapting and thoroughly testing remedies for the cure of woman's peculiar maladies.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the outgrowth, or result, of this great and valuable experience. Thousands of testimonials, received from patients and from physicians who have tested it in the more aggravated and obstinate cases which had baffled their skill, prove it to be the most wonderful remedy ever devised for the relief and cure of suffering women. It is not recommended as a "cure-all," but as a most perfect Specific for woman's peculiar ailments.

As a powerful, invigorating tonic, it imparts strength to the whole system, and to the womb and its appendages in particular. For overworked, "worn-out," "run-down," debilitated teachers, milliners, dressmakers, seamstresses, "shop-girls," housekeepers, nursing mothers, and feeble women generally, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the greatest earthly boon, being unequaled as a nerving cordial and restorative tonic.

As a soothing and strengthening nervine, "Favorite Prescription" is unequaled and is invaluable in allaying and subduing nervous excitability, irritability, exhaustion, prostration, hysteria, spasms and other distressing, nervous symptoms commonly attendant upon functional and organic disease of the womb. It induces refreshing sleep and relieves mental anxiety and despondency.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a legitimate medicine, carefully compounded by an experienced and skillful physician, and adapted to woman's delicate organization. It is purely vegetable in its composition and perfectly harmless in its effects in any condition of the system. For morning sickness, or nausea, from whatever cause arising, weak stomach, indigestion, dyspepsia and kindred symptoms, its use, in small doses, will prove very beneficial.

"Favorite Prescription" is a positive cure for the most complicated and obstinate cases of leucorrhea, excessive flowing, painful menstruation, unnatural suppressions, prolapsus, or falling of the womb, weak back, "female weakness," anteversion, retroversion, bearing-down sensations, chronic congestion, inflammation and ulceration of the womb, inflammation, pain and tenderness in ovaries, accompanied with "internal heat."

As a regulator and promoter of functional action, at that critical period of change from girlhood to womanhood, "Favorite Prescription" is a perfectly safe remedial agent, and can produce only good results. It is equally efficacious and valuable in its effects when taken for those disorders and derangements incident to that later and most critical period, known as "The Change of Life."

"Favorite Prescription," when taken in connection with the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and small laxative doses of Dr. Pierce's Purgative Pellets (Little Liver Pills), cures Liver, Kidney and Bladder diseases. Their combined use also removes blood taints, and abolishes cancerous and scrofulous humors from the system.

"Favorite Prescription" is the only medicine for women, sold by druggists, under a positive guarantee, from the manufacturers, that it will give satisfaction in every case, or money will be refunded. This guarantee has been printed on the bottle-wrapper, and faithfully carried out for many years.

Large bottles (100 doses) $1.00, or six bottles for $5.00.

MASON & HAMLIN

The cabinet organ was introduced in its present form by Mason & Hamlin in 1861. Other makers followed in the manufacture of these instruments, but the Mason & Hamlin Organs have always maintained their supremacy as the best in the world.

Mason & Hamlin offer, as demonstration of the unequalled excellence of their organs, the fact that at all of the great World's Exhibitions, since that of Paris, 1867, in competition with best makers of all countries, they have invariably taken the highest honors. Illustrated catalogues $22 TO $900, free.

ORGANS

Mason & Hamlin do not hesitate to make the extraordinary claim for their pianos, that they are superior to all others. They recognize the high excellence achieved by other leading makers in the art of piano-building, but still claim superiority. This they attribute solely to the remarkable improvement introduced by them in the year 1882, and now known as the "MASON & HAMLIN PIANO STRINGER," by the use of which the greatest possible purity and refinement of tone, together with greatly increased capacity for standing in tune and other important advantages.

OLD DR. CHASE'S NEW RECEIPT BOOK.
His Last & Crowning Life Work.

Dr Chase's Third, Last and Complete Receipt Book and Household Physician, or the Book for the Million, contains nearly 900 pages and sells for $2.25 in cloth binding and $2.50 in imported oil cloth, marble edge, and is justly by him called
'THE CROWNING WORK OF MY LIFE.'
It is the result of over half a century's observation, study and experience. Yet this embodies no compilation of his former books, IT IS WHOLLY A NEW BOOK. If 30 years ago he could produce a book that has had a sale of over fifteen hundred thousand copies, and has made his name familiar in nearly every English-speaking home in the United States, Canada, and South America, what KIND of a book could or would he produce as his Crowning Life Work, WITH MORE THAN THIRTY YEARS OF ADDITIONAL PRACTICE AND EXPERIENCE? The book itself answers the question, and is the most valuable production in the history of book publishing.
The Book is published in both English and German.

NO LICENSE FEES.

Judge Furst Gives an Important Opinion on the Liability of Telephone Companies to Pay License Fees on Poles.

An opinion of more than usual interest and importance was handed down by Judge Furst on Friday. The decision relates to the liability of telephone companies to be required to pay a license fee in boroughs. The Central Pennsylvania Telephone and Supply Company is a corporation duly chartered under the laws of Pennsylvania. Among other places it has an exchange at Philipsburg in this county. In 1886 the town council of Philipsburg passed an ordinance granting permission to the Telephone Company to erect its poles and maintain its lines within the limits of the Borough, but in the ordinance prescribed a number of conditions and regulations. One of such conditions was as follows: "Fifth—that the said company shall and will pay on the first day of July, to the said Borough for such privelege annually the sum of 25 per centum of the monthly charge for a telephone in said Borough, for each and every pole now erected or hereafter to be erected within the limits of said Borough." There were within the limits of the Borough 52 poles and the corporate authorities demanded of the company for the year ending April 5, 1887, a license fee of fifty-two dollars by virtue of the above ordinance. The Company denied its liability and refuses to pay. Thereupon a case stated was prepared and submitted to the Court for its decision. The argument was held in October. The opinion of the Court is a very elaborate one and disposes of the question very fully. The Judge holds that the Company is not liable to pay the license fee demanded, and that the portion of the ordinance above quoted is void because there was no authority rested in the town council to impose a condition requiring the payment of such license fee.

The objection says that such fee cannot be imposed either under the general Borough laws or under the Acts of Assembly relating to corporations, and for these reasons judgment was entered on the case stated in favor of the Telephone Company. This may be taken as settling a question that has been agitated ever since the telephone service came into general use.

—Eggs continue chiefly remarkable for their scarcity.

—Still more new manufacturing industries in Bellefonte.

—Curtin street is in a desperately muddy condition.

—That new pavement in front of the Brokerhoff House is a solid success.

—A splendid course of lectures is being arranged for the Bellefonte public.

—About half the Republicans in Bellefonte will be at Harrison's inauguration.

—Reformed dinner and supper to-day in building next to R. A. Beck's tonsorial establishment.

—A Bellefonte business man told us yesterday that he can already notice an improvement in trade.

—In some way the Y. M. C. A. library should be opened to public access. It is not at present answering its purpose.

—A most delightful progressive euchre party was held at Mr. F. C. Montgomery's residence on Thursday evening.

—Governor Beaver has granted a respite to George Clarke, the Green county murderer, until February 21, 1889. He had been sentenced to be hanged on November 21. His case has been taken to the Supreme Court.

—Mr. John Fisher, of Madisonburg, stepped out of his house the other day and saw a large bear in a tree not far away. He brought his trusty Winchester to bear on it, popped away and down the bear tumbled. It had taken refuge in the tree to escape from hunters.

—Mrs. Jane E. Liggett, formerly of Milesburg, this county, died on Sunday, November 4, in Kansas City, Mo. Her remains are to be brought to this place for burial. It was several years ago that she resided in this county, but many readers of this paper will remember her.

—We can, in imagination, see the fair which is being prepared by the young ladies of the Y W C T U. Their handsome room will be brilliant with the creations of the best taste in Bellefonte. Little girls, just imagine the lovely doll's clothes which will be displayed. It will be held on the 16th inst.

—Among the good results of the recent battle with ballots was the excellent showing of that famous place—Shingletown. Every ward was carried by the Republicans and in consideration of that fact a cabinet officer will certainly be chosen from some of Shingletown's citizens. There is material there sufficient for two or three brilliant cabinets.

—It is quite alarming to learn from the Keystone Gazette that the recent game of foot ball between State College and Dickinson College ended in a tie. However the moral education of the paper may be properly appreciated when the public reads this statement couched in real Biblical language: "Bellefonte has three or four business blocks like unto it?" Who is the Rev. Mr. Hos*horn* alluded to?

MR. RYNDER'S THANKS.

Though not Elected, He is Proud of the vote Received.

Editor Daily News: Permit me a few lines to correct a false impression that has obtained some little currency, which is that the Labor party of Centre county did not support me. This is an absolute error. They not only did support me to the very last man, but they appreciated so fully the compliment of my endorsement by the Republican party that they supoorted the Republican county ticket; and all but twelve of them supported Harrison. A glance at the figures of the election returns will show this to be the case.

Please allow me to express my deepest gratitude for the magnificent manner in which the Republicans stood by my protection and pension record. That in a poll of more than 4600 votes less than 80 Republicans declined to vote for me is a compliment of which I am proud beyond expression. That my vote and that of the Republican county ticket exceeded that of Gen. Harrison is undeniable evidence that the Labor party stood squarely by me and the Republican county ticket.

Let us all rejoice that in the industrial war which England and her allies forced upon us they have met with such a crushing defeat, as sends the free trade flag to the rear for the next quarter of a century.

As Cleveland sent a substitute to the army, so the people have sent a soldier substitute to the presidency, who will not go fishing while a nation pays tribute to its patriotic dead.

Truly yours,
T. P. RYNDER.

Which Was It? Bacon or Shakespeare.

The authorship of the dramatic productions attributed to the last of above named is agitating literary circles to the very centre but affects the practical masses far less than the momentous question, how to regain or preserve health, that essential of bodily and mental activity, business and the pursuit of happiness." We can throw far more light on this subject than the most profound Shakespearian can on the question first propounded. If the system is depleted; the nerves shaky; if indigestion or constipation bothers one at time, or constantly; if the skin is yellow and tongue furred as in biliousness; if there are premonitory twinges of oncoming rheumatism or neuralgia; if the kidneys are inactive—Use Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, the finest recuperant of an age prolific in beneficial and successful remedies. Remember, if malaria threatens or afflicts, that it neutralizes the poison and fortifies the system.

—The New York Evening Post commends the existing situation to the attention of people who recommend a change in our method of electing a President, so as to have the choice made by popular vote. "Under the existing system it was clear to every experienced student of election returns before midnight on Tuesday that Harrison had a majority of the electoral votes, and consequently was elected. But nobody has the slightest idea to-day, or can have for days to come, whether he has also a majority of the popular vote." It will be remembered that Garfield led Hancock by less than ten thousand votes in a total of more than nine millions, and this was not certainly known till the last returns came in from California and Texas. The idea of subjecting the nation to the strain of waiting days and probably weeks to find out who is to be President, while all the back districts are being heard from, is the Post thinks, "simply preposterous."

—Members of the secret service department are actively engaged attempting to ferrett out a gang of counterfeiters who are circulating bogus silver dollars in the western part of Pennsylvania and in the southern tier of counties in New York. The 'queer' stuff has been turned out extensively in Buffalo, Erie, Williamsport, Corry, and other places, principally among farmers. The counterfeit is one of the finest that has ever been turned out, being exact in weight and devoid of those characteristics by which bogus coins are detected. It is supposed that they are being made in the vicinity of Girard, Pa.

A Grand Movement Inaugurated.

We are delighted to hear that there is a plan on the tapis to have a series of lectures and one concert in Bellefonte this winter. The course will include lectures by the most eminent orators of the day at very reasonable rates, the aim is not to realize any profit, but to give the most excellent kind of entertainment to the public. We cannot give any names at present, but when the completed programme is spread before the people they will acknowledge that it is one of the most beneficent and praiseworthy movements ever thought of for Bellefonte.

A Grand Temperance Fair.

Prepare for something exceedingly elegant and attractive. The ladies of the Y. W. C. T. U. will hold their temperance fair in their handsome rooms in Crider's building on Friday, November 16. It will be the most notable event of the present season. The ladies of the Y. Union have perfect taste and will exhibit to the public a collection of beautiful articles never before equaled here. One of their principle specialties will be doll's clothes and all the girls are expected to bring their dolls along. They will be able to supply them with the loveliest dolls clothes they ever saw.

Foot Ball at State College.

The first regular foot ball game of the season, at State College, was played there last Saturday, between the Pennsylvania State College and Dickinson College foot ball elevens, which resulted in a tie game of 6 to 6. It was a fine day for foot ball except the grounds were slippery. Dickinson won the toss and chose the ball and State College took the side with the sun and wind in their favor. In the first half Patton of Dickinson made a touch down and Foster was compelled to make a safety by Millard.

In the second half, with the score of 6 to 0 in favor of Dickinson, the State College boys were umpired to victory by the plaudits of their fellow students, and started in for "blood." Reber and Foster made fine runs and Foster secured a touch down from which Mock kicked a goal, thus tying the score. At this the enthusiasm of the spectators knew no bounds. These were the only points made by State College. Cleaver, Hildebrand and Foster repeatedly broke through Dickinson's rush line, while the rush line of State College was very strong.

The teams were: Dickinson—Rushers Millard, Stevens, Eveland, Baldwin, Evans, Hanly, Hughs; quarter-back, Houck; half-backs, Wallace and Patton, nack, McGirk. State College—Rushers; Linsz, Hil', Hildebrand, McLean Fisher, Clever, Johnson; quarter-back, Leyden; half-backs, Foster and Reber; nack, Mock.

Referee, Mr. Urner, of Dickinson. Umpire, Prof. Cleaver.

To Be Re-opened.

The audience room of the Curwensville Methodist Episcopal church Rev. D. H. Shields, pastor, will be re-opened and re-dedicated Sunday, November 18th.

Extensive repairs have been made and new circular pews in solid walnut, in hard oil finish, have been put in position. The entire room has been handsomely carpeted with a fine extra super 3-ply ingrain, in red and black, the gift of Mrs. Hon. John Patton. A new pulpit and chair platform and altar rail has been erected and is pronounced the handsomest work of its kind in the county. The Clearfield Lumber Company are the builders. The pulpit furniture, together with the pews were made by the Globe Furniture Company, of Michigan. The pulpit which is of walnut finished in plush and the pulpit chairs to match and communion table are special gifts which do their donors credit.

In addition to the improvements made to the audience room the Sunday-School and prayer meeting rooms have been changed and modernized at a cost of $500. The entire cost amounting to over $1,600, has all been provided for by contributions from the members of the church and congregation in advance, and the church will be re-dedicated free of debt.

Bishop Cyrus D. Foss, of Philadelphia, Rev. J. B. Shaver and Rev. James Curns and the Presiding Elder, Rev. George Leidy, of the Altoona District, are expected to be present.

A New Disinfectant Discovered!

A new and powerful disinfectation has been discovered by a Parisian chemist, and if what he claims for it be true, it will be adopted for nearly every conceivable purpose for which disinfectants are generally used. The basis of the preparation has been obtained from coal oil and is a brown liquid of not a very dissagreeable odor. It is the result of a peculiar saponification of the oil by a chemical process with a mixture of caustic soda. The value of the disinfectant was accidentally discovered by the author, who desiring to save a pet tree around which a fungus and moss had grown, sprinkced some of the mixture around the roots. By repeated use the excresence was shortly afterwards noticed to separate from the tree and fall to the ground. Horses were also spunged with a weak solution of the mixture and it was noticed that flies which generally pester the animals gave them a wide berth.

—The Democrats in Bellefonte did not die without a struggle. On Wednesday afternoon they invented two or three dispatches and gave them out as coming from W. F. Reber, Esq., who is a stenographer for the National Committee. One telegram was to the effect that a mistake of 12,000 had been made in the count in Brooklyn. Now, a sensible man would have seen the transparency—yes the absurdity—of such a claim at once. Some men supposed to have judgment repeated it. A dispatch came from Stanley Mathew Quay, at 6 o'clock stating that the majority, in New York state for Harrison is 15,000 and in Indiana 6000. The real trouble is, the Democrats were perfectly paralyzed by the loss of so much money on bets and thought that by a little scare they could secure a compromise from some of their numerous political creditors.

—Rev. Dr. S. F. Smith, of Chicago who wrote our grand old National hymn "My Country 'tis of Thee," was 80 years old on Oct. 21st. John G. Whittier wrote from Danvers, Mass. "I wish to give thee a hearty welcome to the octogenerian circle which everybody desires to reach, but is in no haste to do so the historian, Geo. Bancroft, has been there for some time, and my dear friend and thy general classmate, Dr. Holmes, is ready to join us, though I fancy he is willing to remain outside as long as possible. We shall all be proud of the acquisition of the Christian teacher and patriotic poet whose song of our country has been adopted by 60,000,000 freeman. It has kept time to the march of freedom. It has been sung around camp fires, and the sick and wounded have forgotten their pain in listening to it. It has followed the American flag and gone round the world.

WHAT THE PROHIBITIONISTS DID.

Were there any Prohibitionists in Centre county this year?

Yes, there were 175.

Did they vote for their candidates?

They did.

Were their candidates elected?

No

Who were elected?

Mr. Allison and Mr. Holt.

Who were defeated?

Mr. Fryberger and Mr. McCormick.

Were there a sufficient number of Prohibitionists to have elected Mr. Fryberger if they had voted for him?

There were and a hundred to spare.

Which gentleman, in the legislature, would do most for these Prohibitionists—Mr. Holt or Mr. Fryberger?

In reply we can only refer him to a letter in which Mr. Holt said he had never advocated "Proabishment" and would not vote for it.

Then, did the Prohibitionists accomplish any good in voting for their own candidates instead of for Mr. Fryberger?

Well, if they did we cannot comprehend what it is.

Alexander stood in Diogenes' sunshine. The Prohibitionists stand in their own sunshine, and don't know enough to get out of it.

The Latest From New York.

NEW YORK, November 7.—Senator Quay, chairman of the Republican national committee, authorizes the following statement:

"The republicans on Tuesday carried by increased majorities, all the states that were carried for Blaine in 1884, and in addition have New York by a plurality of 15,000 and Indiana by a plurality of from 4,000 to 6,000. West Virginia is in doubt. General Harison's election is assured."

The unofficial vote of all the counties in the state, as far as returned, show pluralities for Cleveland of 78,956, and for Harrison of 90,141, giving Harrison a plurality in the state of 11,191.

ALBANY, N. Y., November 7.—The tables of the Argus, democrat, give the state to Harrison by abont 10,000.

—Following are the names of the men killed by the explosion at the Kettle Creek mine Saturday evening: Charles Alman, aged 27 years; John Anderson, 20; John Beckus, 28; Aaron Carlston, 25; Dem Closky, 40; Stephen Beckus, 22; Michael Curren, 37, leaves widow and eight children; Patrick Donley, 55, leaves widow and seven children; Michael Marsy, 22; Sylvester Marcy, 19, Geo. M. Ellete, 52; Martin Pierson, 30; Maurice Yanks, 27, and two unknown. On Monday afternoon an inquest was held on the bodies of the victims. The testimony of the witnesses shows that dynamite caused the explosion, but no blame is attached to any one except the miners themselves. Great care should be taken by persons handling this dangerous explosive.

—The election is over and we all know the result. Humanity will now with common consent co-operate for the best interest of all, laying aside the party prejudice that a political campaign like the one just closed always brings. Rich and poor, young and old will now be looking around for appropriate articles for Christmas presents. The ladies of the Methodist church are preparing beautiful articles for that purpose which they will offer to the public at their fair to be held in Crider's new building during the week commencing November 19.

—B. B. Hamlin, Jr., son of Rev. Dr. Hamlin, had his right hand badly burned Saturday night while putting off a "screamer" during the republican parade at Bellefonte.—Huntingdon News.

There are several inacurate statements in the above. Bellefonte is not so fortunate as to possess an inhabitant named Hamlin. Then the Republican party did not have a parade on Saturday night. And, thirdly, the men here don't put off "screamers." The girls do that. When the men want to make a noise they put off "howlers."

The Result in the County.

The total votes given in the DAILY NEWS on Wednesday for the legislative candidates were correct. We will repeat them:

Allison 4654, Holt 4641, McCormick 4620, Fryberger 4581.

The plurality for Cleveland in this county is exactly 150.

The plurality for Kerr in the county is about 200.

The return judges met at 12 o'clock to-day.

Election Notes.

The estimated plurality for Harrison in Pennsylvania is 72,948.

Massachusetts gives Harrison 30,000.

Iowa gives the hero of protection 30,000.

Ohio's Republican majority is 25,000.

Minnesota's majority is 12,000, Colorado 12,000, California 6,000, Michigan 13,000, Dakota 20,000 and Indiana 6,000.

JAS. H. DOBBINS, P. M.

—The Rev. Dr. George Williamson Smith, who has just been chosen Assistant Bishop of Ohio, is about 49 years old. He was educated at Hobart College, Geneva, N. Y., and at the General Theological Seminary, New York city. After his ordination in 1860 he was a naval claplain at Annapolis for eleven years. He then became rector at Jamaica, L. I., and from there took charge of the Church of the Redeemer, Brooklyn. In 1882 he was elected President of Trinity College, Hartford, which post he still retains. He is six feet in height and good looking, of ruddy complexion and robust health. His manner is dignified and his presence commanding. He has a good voice. In 1886 Dr. Smith refused the Bishopric of Easton, one of the dioceses of Maryland.

TRY IT YOURSELF.

"It is of no use to argue the question, Philip am neither stubborn nor opinionated. I have simply had a lesson that will last a lifetime."

"Look here, Jack! you are like some old bachelor who has been jilted by some woman, and goes about declaring all women false."

"Not at all! my brother Charley died of Bright's disease, brought on by using one of these so called 'blood purifiers'—the kind you see attractively advertised in every nook and corner. It contains Iodide of potassium, a drug useful in extreme cases when cautiously given under a doctor's supervision, death-dealing to all who take it in quantity. If your brother had died under such circumstances, you would hate patent medicines as I do."

"I do dislike the name of that mis-called 'blood purifier', for I have heard a first class physician say it is the cause of half the cases of Bright's disease in the country, and it is strange the proprietors have not been prosecuted for selling it. But I was recommending Vinegar Bitters and that does not contain any mineral, narcotic or other hurtful drug."

"Oh, nobody supposes that old woman's remedy will hurt anybody; the question is will it cure anything? I'd as soon think of taking some of my grandmother's herb tea."

"You would be better off, Jack, if you had some of that tea to tone up your system now, instead of taking a glass of brandy to make you sleep one night, and perhaps a bottle of beer next."

"Is this a temperance lecture, Phil?"

"No, it is a Vinegar Bitters lecture. I've taken the medicine more or less for fifteen years, and look the world over, you will not find a healthier man than I am."

"What is all this nonsense about old style and new style Vinegar Bitters; are they different?"

"Yes, the old style looks like coffee with milk in, the new style like coffee without milk. The man who made the old style for twenty years—a practical chemist—made a milder, pleasanter preperation, aiding to it here, and taking from it there, until he produced, my wife says, the finest medicine ever made. It cured her of constipation, and it cures the children of hives and all the little ailments they ever have. If my wife thinks they have worms, she doses them with old style. We always have both kinds in the house, and together, they keep the doctor away."

'And you insist that the pudding—"

"Is the eating—precisely. Jack, get a bottle of the old style Vinegar Bitters—men, I think, prfer old style usually—try it, and you will then be like an old bachelor who, after railing against women for years, falls in love with a good woman at last. You will say there are good and bad patent medicines, but Vinegar Bitters is the best of the lot."

"All right, Phil, to please you, I'll try it and report results." 20-37-18m

Bellefonte Republican,

Local Department.

—Fall flowers are lovely.

—Eggs are still a rare quantity.

—Ladies, lay aside your parasols.

—Jack Frost is a daily morning caller.

—The cold winds of November are blowing.

—Is one dude equal to four when he is too too?

—The umbrella is useful only when it is used up.

—The grading of Curtin street has cost a mint of money.

—That leak of steam heat on Curtin street is being repaired.

—The Bellefonte Band accompanied the excursionists to Lock Haven.

—The Methodist ladies say that their fair, next week, will be a brilliant event.

—Some one asks for more light on Water street near the planing mill office.

—Steam is escaping at a place on Curtin street near A. G. Curtin, Jr's, residence.

—The steam heat has been put in Lyon's dry goods store, on Allegheny street.

—Every part of the country is feeling the good effects of the Republican victory at the polls.

—About sixteen young men attended the Y. M. C. A. prayer meeting on Monday evening.

—It is probably the attention paid it and the remarks about it that makes the weather vain.

—We understand that there are only 22 ardent Republicans in Bellefonte who want the postoffice.

—We don't hear of any great achievements of hunters in the woods this year. Game must be scarce.

—Bellefonte is a well lighted town and the electricity is doing even better service than it did at first.

—Mr. W. A. Bowen, of Harrisburg, will conduct the meeting of the Y. M. C. A. on Sunday afternoon.

—A religious conference of some sort is now in progress in Boalsburg. We have not learned its exact nature.

—Single girls who think of taking advantage of their leap year privileges had better hurry up as their time is growing limited.

—Some one asks: Is it any worse to bet on the result of an election than on a game of poker? We are constrained to answer, No.

—A salmon was caught in the river at Lock Haven last week that measured thirty-one inches in length and weighed twelve pounds and three-quarters.

—It is said that there is a wheel-barrow political wager to be paid in this place. Why don't the defeated individual come to time and give the public some entertainment?

—It is said that the overseers of the poor in Philipsburg and Snow Shoe have descended upon some of the betters in those places and appropriated the funds and that the paupers in their charge will live on the top shelf this winter.

—"Longevity? I should say longevity did run in the family," said Mrs. Spriggins, "Why, John was six foot two, Bill was six foot four, and George, he had more longevity than any man I ever see. He was six foot seven if he was a foot."

—Since the election of Harrison the coal trade of the Tyrone Division has increased about one hundred cars per day, and this is only the beginning. Now we'll promise that if they give Bellefonte a better depot the coal trade will increase 500 cars a day.

—The Legislature of New York will be Republican in both branches, and the wholesome check which for the last three years has been on the Government will continue. In those matters which have been so honorable to the Republicans in New York Legislature there will be no step backward.

—Mr. Depew has been interviewed, and what he said concludes as follows: "No Cabinet office for me. I am too busy with railroad affairs. I could not be nominated because I am president of a railroad, and I am not going to accept a position under the candidate." There was no trace of bitterness in this declaration.

—The Bellefonte Item seems to have temporarily discontinued its appearances. Mr. Frank E. Bible, having lost all the money he cares to lose on the Centre Democrat, has laid down the pencil and Mr. Charles Kurtz has taken it up. Charley has already demonstrated his ability to wheel heavy weights over rough roads.

—The Lock Haven Express says that the people of Island, near that city, procured by popular subscription enough money to purchase a United States flag 12 by 20 feet, which was thrown to the breeze for the first time on election day. The flag floats fifty feet above the ground and is suspended by a rope stretched from poles at each side of the street.

More About the Lecture Course.

We can give our readers very definite information to-day about the W. C. T. U Star lecture course, the proceeds of which, we understand, will be given to the Y. M. C. A. for gymnasium purposes. The arrangements have been speedily completed and we can already announce the following first-class talent:

The first lecture will be given on Thursday evening, November 22, by Robert Mourse of Washington, D.C., who is said to be "the greatest dramatic orator of the world."

Will Carleton, the popular poet, will be the second lecturer, his appearance to be on either December 8 or 19, that date not having been definitely fixed.

The third lecture, the date of which is not yet certain, will be by Rev. Russel Conwell, of Philadelphia, whose fame is world wide.

Mrs. Mary Livermore, one of the most famous women in the world, will appear on the 8th of February. She did more for the comfort of our soldiers than any woman during the war, being prominently connected with the Sanitary Commission.

Included in the course is a grand concert, which will be given some time in January by "The Swedish Ladies," nine in number, who arrived in America on the 5th of this month, and are making a tour of the country.

Is not this a grand literary and musical treat? Its equal has never before been offered to this community. Now, you are saying this will cost a mint of money and it will be beyond the ability of ordinary mortals to attend. But you will be more than ever surprised to know that tickets to the entire course will cost only $2.00, and if you have a big family and want them all to attend, a ticket costing only $5 will admit all to each lecture?

So you see that, despite the fact that there is no opera house in our town, there will be a series of entertainments more elevating, pleasing and beneficial than any ever before given here. We expect there will be a great rush for tickets, and we will announce soon where and how they can be obtained.

Through Tickets.

Some one connected with the Evening Express office in Lock Haven has placed in our possession two tickets for first class passage on the trip to Salt Biver. The tickets are handsomely printed and the route is a decidedly interesting one. Joe W. Furey is the conductor of the expedition and as he is well acquainted with the country he can point out to the uninitiated all the interesting points along the route. Leaving Lock Haven in the Salt River steamer, "Ritchie," which belongs to the Palace Line, the traveler will have elegant accommodations. The ticket is good only one way as the holder will need no return transportation. The first stop is to be made at Cleveland Grove and from there the route will be by the Mosquito Ded-Hed R.R. to Thurmanville. Then the travellers will go over two railroads, viz., the Connecticut Wooden Nutmeg Railroad and the Broken Solid South Railroad (snowed under division) to Bill's Mill. Then the Pan Electric Route will convey the traveler to Washington. From there he will go by the Burchard Steamer, Sackville West, to Bandana Grove. Excellent poultry will be provided and crow must be eaten at least once a week. Free Whiskey cannot be expected. Passengers can bring their shot guns as excellent coon hunting will be found on the Salt River banks. Lightning change of mail agents and government employes after March 4.

As we cannot use the tickets we will hand them to some one who will be glad to go on this trip.

A Cold European Winter.

Navigation in the harbor of St. Petersburg has been prematurely closed by thick ice. The average date of the firm freezing of the Neva is about November 21, and of its opening April 21. Records of the freezing and opening of the river have been kept for more than a century, so that any marked deviation from the average has a certain degree of predictive value. The fact that the present autumn has been exceptionally chilly in Europe, and that the Neva has been bridged by heavy ice three weeks ahead of the ordinary time, portends a cold winter for Western Europe. But this may be modified if the mean track of the winter cyclones crossing the Atlantic is North-northeasterly, as it now promises to be for some time. In this case Atlantic storms passing North of Scotland will draw large stores of warm moist air from the South and spread them over Western Europe.

Wouldn't Break His Pledge.

One of our exchanges tells the following:

"Among the wounded taken from Mud Run wreck was a cadet apparently 14 years of age. He was very weak and crying piteously for a drink. There was a scarcity of water as the coolers were all empty. A man present had a flask of whiskey which he purchased at the hotel and tendered the boy a drink. At the mention of drink the lad grabbed eagerly at it and murmured, 'Oh, thanks' as he placed it to his lips. He no sooner tasted it than he handed it back. "Its whiskey and I don't drink" he said as they urged him to take it. "It may save your life," said a good natured youth as he knelt beside him. "I don't care, I won't break my pledge," replied the lad. Those were the last words he ever spoke, for afterwards he died. His death was calm and peaceful and the many who noticed the dead bodies of all the victims, might have noticed a little cadet with a smile on his face, as if he found happiness in dying without breaking his pledge."

How a Political Wager Was Carried Out.

On Friday at 1 o'clock the lively borough of Centre Hall was in the qui vive of excitement over the fullfillment of a political wager. It was carried out to the letter with two or three additional letters thrown in. The two interesting persons concerned were Dr. Jacobs, an ardent Republican, and Charley Kurtz, son of Frederick Kurtz editor of the Centre Reporter. They had entered into a mutual agreement that the one whose candidate for President was defeated should wheel the other from the printing office to the depot, a distance of about three-quarters of a mile.

Charley is not the kind of an individual who wants to wait about a week before fulfilling his obligations and on Friday, at 1 o'clock, he was ready for business. He attached a bandana handkerchief jauntily to his hat while his triumphant political opponent wore a red white and blue handkerchief in the same position on his head. The Doctor also carried a flag.

The band turned out played the "Quickstep March" and the "Girl I left behind me." The Doctor clambered into the wheelbarrow. Following the band, the procession started, the streets on either side being lined with cheering people. The streets were muddy which did not render the movements of the wheelbarrow any easier or more rapid. But at length the route was marched over, furnishing one of the most novel political events in the history of the borough.

Another Political Wager.

Milesburg also had its novel and humorous political wager which was carried out completely on Saturday afternoon, with several extra touches thrown in. It was of the wheelbarrow kind, Mert Butler, Democrat, and Lew Bullock, Republican, being the parties who furnished the entertainment. The route of parade was from the spring to Bullock's house, a distance of about a quarter of a mile. The wheelbarrow was covered all over with national colors. The contestants were also gaily decorated. The band discoursed sweet music as it marched in the front of the parade. Mr. Bullock was intently reading a paper on which was the inscription in large letters: "I am reading the Watchman to find Meek's roosters." All kinds of appropriate mottoes were displayed on the flags and the parade attracted the attention and applause of hundreds of spectators. Butler was weary after the parade, but in every other respect the affair was enjoyable. Several humorous speeches were made by the principal participants and everybody departed in a pleasant humor.

—If any one, instead of wasting his time in repining at unfulfilled desires, will think frequently on the materials he possesses for present happiness, he will be astonished at their richness and number. Life itself, health, friends, family, the ability to labor, the capacity to enjoy, the power to command certain forms of enjoyment, the beauties of nature and of art, the delights of affection, the opportunitien for improvement, the the power of sympathy and of help—these and many other blessings will occur to him who is in search of them. Let him dwell lovingly and gratefully upon these; let him weigh and consider how to make the most of them, by neglecting no opportunity and shutting out nothing from his life that can brighten and invigorate it.

—It will be this week on Friday, the 16th. We mean that delectable and excellent fair to be given by the Y. W. C. T. U. in their rooms in Crider's building. Do you remember the candy fair which they gave? Well, this will be even better. Wonders in all the creations of fancy work of which the average female mind is capable will be displayed. Great delegations of people from all the surrounding towns will come to inspect this display and a special train will be run from World's End at the greatly reduced excursion rate of ½ cent per mile.

—Our Democratic friend, Mr. Abram Baum, is at a loss to find a boat in which to take the Salt River trip. He has been searching all over the town for one. On Friday he called at Lose's livery stable and tried to purchase a fruit box, offering a quarter for it. As it will not hold water he was prevented from purchasing it, but as he cannot find anything else that will take him up the river, it is possible that he will be compelled to take this box. The excursion will be hazardous in the extreme. Cannot some one offer him a little boat?

—When you walk out next Friday be sure to go to the rooms of the Y. W. C. T. U., in Mr. Crider's building. The Union will have a fair at that time and wants everyone to come and admire it. While the young the old and the middle aged will delight to visit the fair, be sure that every little girl is present with her doll. There will be a wonderful array of doll's clothes.

Y. M. C. A. Week of Prayer.

The week of prayer for the Y. M. C. A. began on Sunday and will continue during all of this week. It will be observed by the Bellefonte Association with a half hour prayer meeting beginning at 7 each evening, except Wednesday. This evening J. W. Gephart, Esq., conducted the meeting and on Tuesday it was conducted by Mr. Washington Rees. We copy the entire list of topics, as follows:

Sunday, November 11—"Have you seen him?"—John 1: 29; Luke 18 35–43.

Monday—"Curious, Serious, Saved." Luke 19: 1-10,

Tuesday—Drifting." Acts 24: 24—27; Hebrews 2: 1-4.

Wednesday—"Dwellers in Darkness," John 3: 19, 20; 8:12.

Thursday—"The danger Thoroughly Understood, but not Avoided."—Proverbs 5: 1-13; Nehemiah 13: 26; 1 Corinthians 10: 13.

Friday—"A Wise Merchant," Matthew 13: 45, 45; Luke 14: 33.

Saturday—"Not Afraid to Stand Alone." II Samuel 23: 11, 12; II Timothy 4. 16,17.

—The programme of the nineteenth anniversary of the Bellefonte Y. M. C. A. promises to be of a pleasing character and seasonable variety. It will begin with a voluntary by the male choir, then the congregation will rise and be led in prayer by Rev. M. L. Hayden, of the Christian Chapel. This will be followed by a hymn to be sung by the congregation. Rev. W. H. Snyder will read selected portions of Scripture. After the singing of a hymn the retiring President, Prof. David M. Lieb, will give his report. More congregational singing will be followed by the address of the evening by Mr W. A. Bowen, Assistant State Secretary. The address will be brief, but full of good points. Another hymn will be sung and then there will be three five minute talks by Rev. Ed. Everett Hoshour, Mr. J. C. Weaver and J. W. Gephart, Esq., respectively. A concluding hymn and the doxology will be sung and Rev. D.S. Monroe, D. D., will dismiss the congregation with the benediction.

—The double compound turkey, sauer kraut, chicken, waffles, ice cream and cake refreshments served by the Reformed ladies and gentlemen on Saturday, may be denominated super-excellent in every particular. It was well attended and the delicious edibles were stowed away with that celerity and grace which characterizes the true table artist. Some of the ladies closed their right eye and exclaimed in a eau de cologne accent, "No saur kraut for me," but they winked with their left eye very knowingly and the result was that a double portion of the antique cabbage was brought to them. Hereafter some of the gentlemen of the town who frequent such places and go through the bill of fare twice must not forget to pay for the ice cream they consume.

—Miss Martha A. McConnell was ordained and installed a deacon in the Reformed Presbyterian church, at McKeesport, Pa., last Friday evening in the presence of an immense audience. Prof. J. W. Coleman, Principal of Geneva College, preached the sermon, taking for his text Genesis xv. 2: "And I will put enmity between thee and the woman, and between her seed and thy seed." Miss McConnell is the first woman ever elected to the office of deacon. The election took place about a year ago, but the minister refused to ordain her, claiming that it was not legal. The matter was referred to the Presbytery and then to the Synod which body, decided in her favor.

General Harrison at Church.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., November 11.—General Harrison accompanied by Mrs. Harrison, Russell and wife and Mr. and Mrs. McKee attended divine services as usual this morning at the First Presbyterian church. After the services were closed, many members of the congregation gathered around and shook hands with the General and Mrs. Harrison. A large crowd awaited his coming out but there was no demonstration.

Representative-elect Holt was in Bellefonte on Tuesday and we had the pleasure of grasping his hand in Walter Bayard's drug store.

Mrs. W. S. Tripple and daughter, after a sojourn of considerable length in Lock Haven, are again at home, having returned on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. J. Nicolls, of Philadelphia, are visiting at the home of Mrs. N's father, the venerable Stewart Lyon, Esq., on Curtin street.

We omitted to mention the return of Mrs. McGuinness from England, where she spent a couple of months. Her daughter, Mary Jane, is still in England.

Mr. J. F. Condo, of Spring Mills, made one of his monthly visits to Bellefonte on Monday. He is not only a pleasant gentleman, but also an ardent Republican.

Mrs. L. C. Johnson and her daughter, Miss Maggie, have returned home after spending a very pleasant week at Spruce Springs, their health being much improved by the visit.

Mr. W. F. Reber, special stenographer for the Democratic National committee, came home after Chairman Brice closed his political headquarters and is now telling his friends all about it.

Professor F. V. Irish, of the Central State Normal School of Lock Haven, has published another school text book. This one is entitled "Irish Orthography and Orthoepy with Practical Exercises."

Dr. H. K. Hoy departed on Saturday for New York City. He will spend a few weeks attending a course of lectures at the Apholomac Hospital, corner 23d street and 3d avenue. In his absence W. E. Gray, Esq., will answer the door bell.

Mrs. Wm. P. Wilson and Mrs. Nannie Orbison will visit Newberry, Lycoming county, on Thursday of this week to interest the ladies of the Presbyterian church in that place in missions, Mrs. Orbison being announced to deliver an address on the subject.

Mrs. John MacElwaine, of Howard, on Monday, placed us under obligations for a supurb bouquet of white, cream, yellow, pink and scarlet crysanthemums. They make up a brilliant variety of color, there being nothing more lovely on the earth or under the earth.

Mr. Samuel J. Dale, of Benner township, has an extensive knowledge of politics and the way he can figure out increased representation in Congress for the Republicans because of the rapid growth of the North in population is really inspiring to the average member of that party.

Hon. L. A. Mackey, of Lock Haven, came up to Bellefonte on Wednesday evening to learn the latest election news. He found everything Republican. If the Democratic party will be sensible enough to nominate such gentlemen as Mr. Mackey for office they will stand better chances of success.

Mr. Francis Speer made a most marvelous escape on Thursday. He vaulted over two cars and in alighting he turned two sommersaults. As a result of these gymnastics his right cheek was scratched and quite a quantity of gravel and cinder lodged in his hair. The affair happened near the depot.

Miss Cora Solt, a handsome young lady of Freeport, Ill., who, for the past two months, has been the guest of her cousin Miss Gertie Solt returned to her home in Freeport, last Monday, Miss Cora made many warm friends in the East especially among our young attorneys here, who seem somewhat sorry for her departure.

Jubilee at Curtin's.

Last Friday night the Republicans of Curtin's Works and vicinity had a grand time in celebrating the election of Harrison and Morton. The dwellings around the works were gloriously illuminated, bon fires blazed and the Curtin band furnished grand Republican music for the occasion.

Two large trees on the bluff near Jos Neff's were wrapped in straw from top to bottom, then saturated with coal oil and then set on fire. A coal oil barrel was taken to the top of another tree and set on fire. The light from the three burning trees was seen as far down the valley as Eagleville and up the valley as far as Port Matilda. Speeches were made by John G. Love, Harry Valentine and others. Songs were sung and a general rejoicing took place. It was a grand, old-fashioned jubilee, and gotten up by the working Republicans of the place.

Bound for Chicago.

While the many friends of Mr. Tom Lucas of Howard are sorry to lose him from among their number, yet they are pleased to know that his extraordinary talents and pleasing manners are appreciated by such men as Prof. Haven of Chicago, Mr. Lucas, former preceptor, who has employed him to take charge of the Haven College of Phonography and Typewriting, in Chicago while he (Prof. Haven) directs his attention to the Camden College. Prof. Haven evidently recognizes in Mr. Lucas a bright worthy and withal an excellent young man. He started for that city this week.

—"Beautiful, beautiful silken hair," Harry murmured fondly, toying lovingly with one of her nut-brown tresses. "Soft as the plumage of an angel's wing; light as the thistledown that dances on the Summer air; the shimmer of sunset, the glimmer of yellow gold; the rich red brown of Autumnal forests blend in entrancing beauty in its——" And just then it came off in his hands, and he forgot what to say next. There was a moment of profound silence, and then Aurelia took it from him, and went out of the room with it. When she came back he was gone.

—Theodore P. Rynder is spending a few days in Houtzdale, Clearfield county. The Tyrone correspondent of the Altoona Times, who saw Mr. Rynder on his way to Houtzdale on Monday, thus referred to him: Chairman T. P. Rynder passed through here Monday. He made a stiff fight against Mr. Kerr for Congress but was unable to over come the heavy Democratic odds. He said that he could only devote seven days to the canvass, but he made things hustle in that time, as he succeeded in cutting down Kerr's majority considerably.

An Odd Fellow's Celebration.

Preparations are being made for a grand celebration of the Order of Odd Fellows in the United States on or about April 26, 1889, to be held in Philadelphia. Although the matter has been agitated but a short time, over one hundred lodges and several cantons and encampments have signified their intention of taking part and have appointed committees to attend a convention to make necessary arrangements. The celebration is to embrace a grand meeting and parade of lodges from all over the country.
